Hold Wage-Price Line

President Makes Appeal To Labor

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, concerned lest a prosperous economy breed inflation, has urged labor leaders to help hold the wage-price line by adhering to "sensible and fair" government guideposts for wage settlements.

Speaking to 139 union chiefs and their wives at a White House dinner Monday night, Johnson—as he did at a similar gathering of industrialists last week—dangled the carrot of "another tax cut in a few years" if the economy keeps expanding.

But he warned: "We surely do not want this promise of progress to be threatened by inflation."

Some of the union leaders already have announced they would ignore the guideposts in negotiations this year and Johnson lectured them on the possible hazards in a growing economy.

"As demand increases and unemployment falls, managers will be tempted to raise prices—in spite of the already high profits and continuing excess capacity—and unions will be tempted to force wages up faster than productivity, in spite of already high wages and continuing excessive unemployment," Johnson said.

He said he knew one side is inclined to blame the other for irresponsibility but he declared: "I do not believe labor or business wants a renewed wage-price spiral any more than Barry Goldwater wants to run on the same ticket with Nelson Rockefeller."

"For such a spiral steals savings—eats away at real wages—bleeds the meager income of our older citizens—gives orders and jobs to foreign competitors—and undermines the soundness of the dollar."

Johnson faced a difficult task in trying to convince the union leaders to keep with the guidelines, which were set forth by the late President John F. Kennedy.

They provide for wage settlements limited to industry's annual increase in output per worker since World War II—or roughly 3 per cent.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, one of Monday night's guests, has served notice the labor federation will not be bound by the administration's guideposts.

Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers, signaled he will ignore them in his contract negotiations beginning in June with the Big Three automakers—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Johnson called the wage-price guideposts sensible and fair and added: "They are in the public interest and while I cannot—and will not—force anyone to follow them, I can call them to your attention and ask for your cooperation."

Drive Will Last 2 Weeks

Citywide Spring Cleanup To Be Launched Monday

The annual citywide spring cleanup campaign will open Monday morning in East End, Safety — Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today.

The traditional two-week drive is held each year, with incinerator department trucks hauling away the winter's accumulation of refuse which householders have cleaned from their cellars, lawns, gardens and attics.

The campaign is timed to coincide with spring lawn and garden work so that the city crews can haul away debris gathered up by householders.

The drive will be launched on the department's Route 1, which opens in the lower section of East End. It will continue daily, following the same trash collection schedules the department uses the year round.

The schedules will be announced daily to allow householders to place the refuse at the curb or property line in time for collection. Incinerator Supt. John Melvin said. He pointed out the trash should be placed outside the night before a scheduled pickup, as trucks begin their rounds at 7 a. m.

All trash should be placed in suitable, sturdy containers, Melvin said. Metal containers or baskets are best, as cardboard boxes sometimes split or fall apart in a rainstorm, allowing the contents to spill, he said.

1.4 Million Ohioans To Vote Today

Backlash Against Rights And Famous Names Lure Ballots

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans voted today in double question mark primaries which might test white backlash against civil rights and the allure of famous names on the ballot.

Democratic and Republican registrants turned out under a predicted warm and sunny spring sky to give an uncertain verdict on the future political fortunes of Rep. Robert Taft Jr. and former astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.

About 1,400,000 citizens were expected to cast their ballots in the period from 7:30 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. EDT, on nomination contests that would set the stage for a climactic senatorial battle in November.

The election of presidential nominating delegates for both parties was cut and dried. Ohio Democrats would give their 99 convention votes to President Johnson under a stand-in arrangement.

The 58-vote Republican delegation would be designated to vote on the first ballot for Gov. James A. Rhodes, as a favorite son. But it was so stacked with supporters of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., that there was no certainty it would not break apart even on the initial ballot if the Arizona senator showed expected strength.

For Taft, who might succeed his famous father, Sen. Robert A. Taft, as a potential future GOP presidential aspirant, the campaigning against Secretary of State Ted W. Brown for the senatorial nomination, had been an eye-opener.

Taft told a news conference in Cincinnati Monday that he didn't anticipate that Brown would capitalize on the civil rights issue. Taft voted in the House for the measure now pending before the Senate.

Brown denounced it and tried to label Taft as a "liberal" in (Turn to OHIO, Page 5)

One Car And 2 Drivers But Both Jailed

Two Pennsylvania men, both arrested in the same car, were each fined for driving while under the influence of alcohol at hearings Monday before Mayor William Daugherty at Wellsville.

Rodney L. Coberly and Elmer A. Johnston, both of Aliquippa R. D. 2, were fined $150 and costs each and sentenced to three days in jail.

The two were arrested early Saturday morning crowded into the driver's seat of a moving vehicle, arguing over who was going to drive.

They were halted at the intersection of Route 45 and Wells Ave. after having traveled all the way from 13th St. while arguing.

At first Coberly was charged with being in control. Later Johnston was. Finally, it was determined that during the time it took them to get the car to Wells Ave., both had been in physical control at one time or another.

The two started arguing after leaving a tavern. Johnston got into the driver's seat, but Coberly decided he wasn't in any condition to drive, police said.

Coberly jumped out, ran around the car and got in on the driver's side. He remained half in, half out all the way up Main St. and then to Wells Ave., police said.

Sensational Charges

Chinese-Inspired Book Hurls New Blast At Mr. K

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A Chinese-inspired book circulating in Asia levels sensational charges against Soviet Premier Khrushchev and illuminates the monumental Moscow - Peking battle for domination of revolutionary movements in the underdeveloped world.

Bursting with anti-Khrushchev fury, the book accuses the Soviet leader of such things as plotting against Fidel Castro's regime in Cuba and advocating abandonment of the Communist struggle to take over South Viet Nam and Laos in Southeast Asia.

The charges and documentation could have come only from Peking. With Moscow's latest lament that the Chinese are trying to freeze the Soviet Union out of Asia, indications are that the dispute has gone past the point of no return and that the breaking point is near.

The book was published in Ceylon late last year. It was written in English by Theja Gunawardhana, a Ceylonese Communist leader who is active in the "Afro-Asian solidarity" movement. Its text indicates it was virtually dictated by the Chinese. The title of the book is Khrushchevism.

Here are a few of the accusations against Khrushchev:

—That he made a deal with President John F. Kennedy for "20 years of peace" and pledged not to support violent revolutions.

—That he deliberately built up the October 1962 missile crisis to humiliate Fidel Castro so that the Cuban regime would be overthrown in favor of Moscow-trained Communists.

—That he sent agents to Peking to ferment trouble between Chinese and Africans, particularly in the university.

—That he plotted the Hungarian uprising in 1956 in a deal with Yugoslav President Tito, only to have it backfire into full-blown revolution.

—That he bludgeoned Communist-ruled nations with threats of economic reprisals so they would toe his line. The book said he threatened to boycott the sugar of one nation (obviously Cuba) and that he threatened to expel others from the Communist family, hinting that those threatened were Romania and North Viet Nam or North Korea.

—That his policies caused rebellion against his rule in Soviet central Asia.

—That the Romanian party accused him of advocating abandonment of collectivization.

—That Khrushchev had to purge Czechoslovak and East German Communist leaders for opposing his line.

—That he bled Red China for repayment of every ruble loaned for the prosecution of the Korean war.

The book, citing little-known documents which must have been supplied by the Red Chinese, goes far back in the history of the Moscow-Peking dispute to portray 'flea-bitten Khrushchev' as an "adventurist, opportunist, traitor, manipulator, stage manager—all of which produce the modern revisionist."

The author, once again seeming to echo Peking, predicts that Romania will be the next European Communist nation to join Albania in breaking away from the Khrushchev camp. He says Romanian Communist chief Gheorghe Gheorgiu-Dej "is a brave man, and the world will soon see the Romanian Peoples Republic also proving its national sovereignty."

Craft Burst Into Flames At Takeoff

Described Worst U.S. Military Air Disaster In Viet

TAN HIEP, South Viet Nam (AP)—A big U.S. Army Caribou transport plane burst into flames a few seconds after taking off today and crashed south of Saigon. It was the worst American military air disaster in Viet Nam.

All 15 persons aboard—nine Americans and six Vietnamese military personnel—were killed.

The crash occurred 25 miles southwest of Saigon. The plane had taken off from the Tan Hiep military airfield bound for the South Viet Nam capital.

Two American helicopters arrived at the scene two minutes after the crash. Others from Tan Hiep followed quickly. It was too late to help those aboard the plane.

Eight bodies were thrown from the blazing wreckage into the rock-hard rice field beside a Vietnamese village. The helicopter crews sprayed the bodies with fire extinguishers and dragged them to the edge of the field.

The other bodies were pulled from the charred wreckage. One of the pilots had to be cut from his seat.

Witnesses at Tan Hiep said the twin-engine Caribou's left engine was smoking as it took off and the smoke thickened as the plane rose. The control tower told the pilot the engine was on fire.

"He seemed to get control of the fire for a moment," a witness said, "and appeared to have feathered his engines, probably with his carbon dioxide containers. The plane seemed to wheel around, got up to about 100 feet and then plunged down over the treeline two miles away with the engine blazing again."

Tax Revenue Hits $141,054 For 4 Months

More Study Slatd On Proposal For Firing Wilkinson

The city income tax produced a total of $141,054 in the first four months of 1964, an increase of $35,623 from the $105,430 shown at the same time in 1963.

Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson said in a report given Council Monday night.

Wilkinson, reporting receipts in the period Jan. 1-April 30, said $77,070 was received in taxes withheld by employers; $17,685 was paid by businesses and $46,295 was paid by persons filing individual returns.

After Wilkinson read his report, Councilman Norman Bucher said Council had decided to give further study to an ordinance it agreed to consider April 20, eliminating the post of tax commissioner and transferring responsibility for operation of the office from Treasurer Bert Dawson to Auditor Lawrence Zollinger.

"At the last meeting, this proposal came as a surprise to some of the members," Bucher (Turn to REVENUE, Page 5)

Hephner Case Hearing Due At Wellsville

The Wellsville Civil Service Commission will open a hearing Wednesday night at 7 at City Hall on an appeal filed by John Hephner, who was dismissed as police chief April 7.

Hephner was ousted on charges filed by Robert Logan of Broadway, Wellsville, who said Hephner accepted bribes.

Hephner was dismissed by Mayor William Daugherty on a formal charge of misconduct of office.

The hearing had been scheduled for April 27, but was postponed when City Solicitor William Bush became ill. This was the second postponement in the case. The first was granted by the commission on a request from Hephner as one of his defense attorneys was out of town.

The hearing will be in the Council Chambers at City Hall. It has been estimated it will require two nights to hear all the testimony and give the commission time to reach a decision.

If Hephner's dismissal is upheld, he said he will carry his appeal to Common Pleas Court at Lisbon. The first appeal must be to the commission.

$8,000 Voted For Low-Cost Street Work

Councilmen Slatd Deadline June 15 To File Petitions

Council appropriated $8,000 from income tax revenue Monday night to pay the city's share of the third annual program for low cost street surfacing.

Council also approved a motion by Councilman Floyd Murray, street committee chairman, setting a deadline June 15 for property-owners' petitions for the improvements.

As in 1962 and 1963, the city will assume 50 per cent of the cost of any project, Murray said. Petitions should be obtained at the office of Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, he explained. When they are signed and returned, they should be accompanied by a certified check representing the property-owners' share, he added.

Murray said the cost per linear foot for the work is expected to be about the same as in 1963. Prices vary according to the width of the street to be improved.

Johnson Sets Ohio Visit In Poverty Fight

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson will extend his on-the-spot studies of poverty-stricken areas to five more states this week.

The White House announced the President will visit Maryland, Ohio, Tennessee, North Carolina and Georgia, in that order on Thursday and Friday. Except in Ohio, his inspections will be in Appalachian Mountain areas.

A detailed itinerary remains to be worked out but Press Secretary George Reedy said Johnson will fly to Athens, Ohio, Thursday to speak at the 160th anniversary of Ohio University. He will stop in western Maryland en route.

The President is to spend Thursday night in Atlanta and will make his poverty-area tour in the north Georgia mountains Friday before returning to Washington.

The White House announced Johnson will make visits also at Cumberland, Md., Knoxville, Tenn., Rocky Mount, N. C. and Gainesville, Ga.

Completion of this week's swing will mean Johnson has visits all but two—Virginia and Alabama—of the 10 states included in his Appalachia rehabilitation program which is tied into his general war on poverty. Although not actually in the mountains, portions of southeastern Ohio, including the area around Athens, are included in the Appalachia program.

Ballot's Long In Jefferson

STEUBENVILLE — Jefferson County voters were confronted with long lists of candidates in today's primary.

Twelve Democrats and five Republicans are in the race for county commissioner.

The race for county prosecutor or apparently aroused the most interest, with Joseph Loha of Yorkville, Democrat, opposed for renomination by his former first assistant, Dominick Olivito of Steubenville. Richard L. Powell is unopposed for the GOP nomination.

There are nine Democrats in the race for the sheriff's nomination, while incumbent Republican Sheriff George L. Huscroft of Steubenville is opposed by only one candidate, J. Hays Wisener of Steubenville.

Ray B. Long of Winterville is unopposed for the Republican nomination of county coroner. Also unopposed are Martin M. Smith of Steubenville for engineer, and William Kanoski of Winterville, for clerk of courts. State Rep. Douglas Applegate of Steubenville is without opposition for the Democratic nomination, while John O. England of Bloomingdale is making the GOP bid.

Hancock Party Aides Clear Ballot Payment

Officials of the two major parties in Hancock County balked at authorizing payment of $5,917.85 to the Courier Printing Co. of New Cumberland for printing of primary ballots at a meeting Monday with County Court. But they finally cleared payment.

Curtis Wallace, Republican, and Paul Conklin, Democrat, ballot commissioners, at first refused to sign the invoice in expressing dislike of the Courier's price, especially on the cost of absentee ballots.

Courier's original bid was roughly $5,000, but the company submitted a bill of $5,917.85 for the ballots for the May 12 primary.

The company printed 26,826 non-partisan ballots for the County Board of Education races, 17,000 Democratic ballots and 8,896 Republican ballots.

Upset over the bill, Wallace and Conklin said they figured Courier charged 17 cents per ballot for the party elections, 2½ cents per ballot for the school board races, and 50 cents a ballot for 1,600 absentee ballots, or a total of $800 for the absentees. The Democratic ballot is 24 inches long, and the ballot of the other party, 13 inches.

Mrs. Mary Lou Newburn of the printing company, who is editor of the Hancock County Courier, weekly newspaper, was summoned to the Courthouse to explain the difference between the amount of her original bid, and the amount of the bill.

She explained the rates differ with the number of ballots printed — the more run off the presses the cheaper the rate, and the less printed the higher the rate. This accounted for the higher price on the small number of absentee ballots, she said.

Mrs. Newburn also pointed out to the ballot commissioners, and County Commissioners William C. Graham, Robert Roach and James Finley that there was a delay in starting the printing job.

Because she had to await a ruling of the state attorney general's office on alignment of wards in Weirton, she was "rushed" to complete the job and was left with only five working days to finish. Mrs. Newburn said she was forced to pay her employees overtime because of the delay, resulting in higher costs for the company.

Following the disagreement on the price and Mrs. Newburn's explanation, the ballot commissioners authorized full payment. Mrs. Newburn was the only bidder.

County Court in other business decided to ask the County Fire - Fighters Association to elect a representative to attend court meetings. Roach said he had attended a meeting of the firemen earlier, and County Court had been criticized.

Norman Ferrari, Civil Defense director, was asked by Chester volunteer firemen for aid in obtaining government surplus equipment.

Assessor Arnold Anderson reported he received a letter from the state tax commissioner advising that property assessments have met all requirements in all classes set by the state. The letter from G. Thomas Battle complimented Anderson for his efforts and co-operation.

Mower Hurts Man In Newell

A Newell man injured on a power mower and a Glenmoor girl hurt at school were admitted Monday to City Hospital, where seven area residents were treated after separate mishaps and released.

Robert D. Stoneburner, 23, of 313 Jefferson St., Newell, was in "good" condition with lacerations of the left foot suffered on the mower.

Vivian Yeager, 16, daughter of Curtis Yeager of Glenmoor, was in "good" condition with fractures of two toes received in gym class at school.

Paul Rayburn, 15, son of Paul Rayburn, 404 Grant St., Newell, suffered a laceration of the scalp when struck by a stone.

Hit by a baseball bat, Richard Stewart, 4, son of Charles Stewart of Georgetown R. D. 1, received bruises of the scalp.

Gary Farnsworth, 9, son of Mrs. James Farnsworth, 128 W. Center Alley, was treated for a cut of the right knee suffered on a piece of tin.

Margaret Jones, 14, daughter of Denzil Jones of New Cumberland R. D. 2, received a laceration of the large toe when she dropped a milk jug and a piece of glass struck her right foot.

In a fall from a chair, Sally Lynn Bailey, 2, daughter of Mrs. Robert Watson of Carolina Ave., received a cut of the scalp.

David Spencer, 2, son of Alfred Spencer, 408 Ohio Ave., received injuries of the right forearm when caught in a wringer.

Kenneth Baughman, 16, son of Earl Baughman, 925 May St., received possible injuries of the left wrist when he tripped over a wire.

Stolen Tractor Found

LISBON — The sheriff's office said it was advised that a tractor reported stolen from the Quaker Hill Farm on Butcher Rd. was found by an employee Monday afternoon. W. B. Davidson, owner, said in the theft report it was missing from the orchard.

Race Track's 'Gift' Offsets Deputy Costs

Waterford Park race track has "donated" $1,300 to the Hancock County Children's Home general fund.

William C. Graham, president of County Court, showed the check endorsed by Howard Graham of the race track management to fellow commissioners Monday in the Courthouse in New Cumberland.

Although commissioners offered no comment on reasons for the contribution, other than it goes into the Children's Home general fund, it apparently is to get around a state law which stipulates that deputies of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny are forbidden to be on the payroll of a private industry.

Earlier this spring, County Court had authorized pay hikes ranging from $50 to $100 a month for Manypenny's 13 deputies as payment for their directing traffic to and from the race track.

The agreement was that a deputy working on traffic control less than half a month would receive $50 in additional pay, or $100 if he worked 15 days or more each month.

If each of the 13 deputies worked the full month, the bill for County Court would be $1,300 — the cost of assuring that no massive traffic jams develop as is the usual case without officers on duty at intersections in peak rush hours.

Thus, the race track's "contribution" is apparently recompense for County Court's payment of $1,300 in taxpayers' money for hiring deputies to direct traffic in either March or April.

Auto Fire Put Out

LISBON — Firemen were called by a fire in an auto from a carburetor backfire Monday night but before they could leave the station another call advised that it was out. The incident occurred on S. Market St. at 11:15.

Singers Receive Delegate Report

A report on the preliminary competition of the Johnny Appleseed District was heard at the meeting of the East Liverpool SPEBSQSA Chapter Monday night at the Elks Club ballroom.

Dean Manning, district delegate, attended the event this past weekend at Warren. Quartets chosen to represent the district at the international competition in June at San Antonio, Tex., were the Blazers of Dayton, the Village Idiots of Euclid, the Sta-Laters of Warren and the Roaring Twenties from Cincinnati.

Sam Wolfe, president, announced Don Schussler was named parade chairman for the 1965 event to be held April 3 with two performances Saturday night at Westgate School.

Glenn Woods directed singing. Guests were Bill Miller and Norman Bell of Wellsville.

Area chapters will meet next Monday for the formation of an area chorus.

Plans For Water Service Aired In Calcutta Session

Discussion of the proposed water service project for Glenmoor, Calcutta areas and other parts of St. Clair Township was held at a meeting of the St. Clair Township Development Association Monday night in the Calcutta fire station.

It was explained the plans call for standpipes to be erected in the Glenmoor and Calcutta districts as part of the project to supply the area with water.

About 21 attended the meeting at which Allen Dalrymple of Wellsville R. D. spoke on the background and goals of the Columbiana County Regional Planning Commission, of which he is a member.

A movie, "Plan for Progress," was screened by Don Baxter and William Williams of the Ohio Power Co.

Next meeting will be June 1.

Heat half a cup of apricot preserves with a tablespoon of brandy and use as a delectable glaze for coffee cake for company.

Yellow Creek Grange Inspection Scheduled

An inspection of the Yellow Creek Grange and the Juvenile Grange will be held Thursday night at 8:30 at the Grange Hall.

Charles Morlan of the Mt. Nebo Grange, a deputy, will conduct the inspection for the Grange and Mrs. Morlan the juvenile inspection.

A program on a Bible theme will be presented by Mrs. Betty Mick, lecturer. A coverdish lunch will be served by the home economics committee.

To remove gasoline-wasting deposits from your carburetor, with its special Carburetor Cleaner!

USE BORON

HOW CARBURETORS CAN GET DIRTY AND WASTE GASOLINE
When air enters your carburetor, it contains dirt particles that are too tiny to be trapped by your air cleaner. These particles can stick to the carburetor walls around the throttle plate and build up hard deposits. These deposits can block the air flow to your engine at idling. Your gasoline-and-air mixture can get "too rich". Your engine gets too little air, uses too much gasoline. This is gasoline waste!

HOW BORON REMOVES GASOLINE-WASTING DEPOSITS
A special Carburetor Cleaner has been added to Boron Gasoline. This special Carburetor Cleaner dissolves the dirt deposits and washes them away. Because the deposits are hard, the cleaning process may take time. But the end result will be a clean carburetor—and no gasoline waste due to carburetor deposits! So don't let carburetor deposits cause your gasoline-and-air mixture to become "over-rich" and waste gasoline! Always use Boron with its special Carburetor Cleaner!

Military Scandal In Viet Nam

Air Force Capt. Edwin Gerald Shank Jr. was killed in Viet Nam March 24, one of many casualties in the bloody war the United States is "not fighting" against the Viet Cong. Capt. Shank's letters to his wife, from which excerpts have been published in U.S. News & World Report (May 4 edition) may be the means of jarring the military confusion in Viet Nam into sharper focus.

The letters reveal two things about the action in Viet Nam.

First, they reveal that the United States is making a botch of its military efforts in behalf of South Viet Nam by using obsolete equipment and going in with too little, too late.

Second, they reveal that U.S. combat forces in South Viet Nam are discouraged and demoralized by realization that military botching has put them in jeopardy. They live not only in the shadow of death but in the shadow of military disgrace. Like soldiers from time immemorial, they are wondering if anyone at headquarters knows what they are up against, or cares what is happening to them. Capt. Shank liked the country and its people but was disconsolate about U.S. policy.

"I am over here to do the best job possible for my country," he wrote last Jan. 20. "Yet my country will do nothing for me or any of my buddies or even for itself. I love America. My country is the best, but it is soft and has no guts about it at all."

U.S. policy in Viet Nam will be a sizzling issue in the 1964 presidential election. Democrats will defend the status quo described by the late Capt. Shanks. Republicans will insist there is only one thing to do if the United States intends to stay in South Viet Nam — stay there with its head high and its best foot forward.

Capt. Shanks has added confirmation to many other reports of a first-class military scandal festering in Viet Nam.

Squeaky Wheels

Officials at Harrisburg have been getting an earful about the need for new roads in Western Pennsylvania to provide improved travel and attract new industry for economic growth.

Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. spokesmen have urged the Pennsylvania Highway Department to expedite construction of the Beaver Valley Expressway to provide better connections with the eastern and western markets via the turnpike.

The Regional Industrial Development Corp. at Pittsburgh has criticized the state for not giving Western Pennsylvania a fair share of the revenue from gasoline and license fees, and claims the road program lacks adequate planning and a priority system.

Robert Ryan, RIDC president, says proper highways are economic lifelines which make an area accessible to its markets, and present industry and efforts to draw new industry are stifled by obsolete, traffic-choked roads.

Action Housing, Inc., has filed an urban renewal impact study which takes the State Highways Department to task for lack of coordination between urban renewal and highway building.

Beaver County residents, especially those in the Midland South Side area, need not be told of the need for new roads. Construction of the new Shippingport Bridge promises to ease the travel link over the Ohio River. But heavily traveled Route 68 out of Midland and Route 30 east to Pittsburgh are not adequate to their tasks.

As long as Pittsburgh interests are sounding off about highway needs, it would be well for Beaver County and Midland area officials to voice their opinions on the problem of congested traffic.

If it is to be the squeaking wheel which gets the oil, the time has come to start squeaking. Beaver County ranks second only to Allegheny County in the Greater Pittsburgh area in industrial might — 42,000 employed at 200 concerns — and is a strategic link in the Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia economic complex. Yet, travel in many places is surely of the squeaky wheel character.

Beaver County needs and deserves a more adequate highway system, and state highway planners would do well to take action as soon as feasible.

Really? No Claws At All?

One belief current in Washington is that a Russian "detente" in Cuba may have left the island with no "claws." Associated Press reports this.

The Russians, it is believed, may have taken out their ground-to-air missiles — the ones that can shoot down U.S. spy planes — the high-flying U-2 models that formerly flew over Russia.

Another belief is that no more than 3,000 Russian troops now remain on the island.

If such beliefs could be proved true, they would justify a wishful thought that the Soviet Union actually has disbanded what had been turned into a Communist bastion in October 1962.

But wishful thoughts are no foundation for national policy.

U.S. Rep. Frank T. Bow, R-Ohio, says "intelligence sources" indicate Cuba's military strength is second only to that of the United States in the Western Hemisphere.

He says Cuba has more than 150 coastal defense missiles, 12 missile-launching torpedo boats, 500 surface-to-air missiles, 200 modern radar stations, 75,000 regular troops and 200,000 militia.

He seems to be suggesting that what may have happened in Cuba is something like the withdrawal of the Greeks from the siege of Troy, leaving behind that big, innocent, apparently harmless wooden horse.

Under the circumstances, it seems more prudent to line up with Rep. Bow than with the people who seem to want to believe the Soviet Union is so eager to please the United States it has removed everything from Cuba that could inflict damage. Does Russia trust and love us that much?

Proposition Still Being Tested

The first three months of 1964 constituted the 10th quarter year in which federal revenue has been larger than in the corresponding quarter a year earlier.

This is the key fact to remember when claims are made that the increase this year is because of the tax cut that went into effect March 1.

The only safe statement at present is that the increase is in spite of the tax cut that went into effect March 1. If there had been no tax cut, there probably would have been a revenue increase. Even with a tax cut, there was a revenue increase.

The increase undoubtedly was helped by a rising tide of business confidence in the Johnson administration. There was a curious quirk of psychology visible in this respect. Though the tax cut was proposed by the Kennedy administration. It never was accepted in popular opinion as a confidence-inspiring move until the Johnson administration made gestures of budget-trimming.

From that point on, the proposal picked up support. Whether federal revenue would have continued to rise — in fact, whether the tax cut could have been enacted without a change of administration — is a question that never can be answered.

The dubious proposition of the tax cut is still being tested — that the way to increase revenue is to reduce the rate.

Sweet Tuesday

Some of the happiest moments of my life have been spent in voting booths. Since I became eligible to vote, I have missed voting so few times I can recall only one — a primary election in which the only issue to be decided was whether manufacturers of oleomargarine could do what manufacturers of butter were doing; namely, color their product yellow.

Unlike people who feel bitter about the American system of self-government because it doesn't work to suit them, I am well-satisfied. I think it works like a charm.

It doesn't always suit me, either, and that's why I think it works like a charm. If self-government began to satisfy any considerable number of us, it would mean something had turned sour.

Feeling satisfied is not what self-government is designed to do. Free people need to be critical and grouchy. They need to be anxious to throw the rascals out.

I love to turn out rascals. I'm always anxious.

THIS DOES NOT mean I refuse to recognize merit when I see it. It means only that the privilege of voting NO is the thing I cherish most about my citizenship. I have an odd-ball notion about our form of government that adds zest to my negativism.

I think the secret of our success is the way we put our trust in people of demonstrated inferiority.

We habitually vote into public office citizens we wouldn't trust to run a pizza stand.

These are the kind of people who frequently seek public jobs. In this land of opportunity, topnotchers are too busy making money and reputations to fool with official responsibility.

So we deplore this and put second-raters in charge. There are exceptions, of course, but it's the rule.

I THINK it's the secret of our country's amazing success. It keeps government from falling into the hands of citizens accustomed to power and greedy for more.

We have a sample of power-happy men in congressional committee "czars" locked into their jobs by the one-party system in the Solid South. We need to keep this at arm's length.

We do it by throwing people into office and throwing them out — never letting them feel secure until they have demonstrated they have nothing in mind. Even then, all it takes is a twist of the wrist to throw them out for the heck of it.

Double Jeopardy

Johnson Seeks End To Ship Boycott

By Victor Riesel

There's angry behind-the-scenes feuding between President Johnson and the nation's waterfront labor leaders. He wants them to end their boycott of foreign ships which have made runs to Cuba in the past. They have refused on the principle that those shippers who served Fidel Castro should not be rewarded with the chance to make millions of dollars in American ports.

The President, who believes he can isolate Cuba by convincing foreign shippers they would do better on the world market by ending this trade with the Communists, has been pressuring the waterfront unions to handle such freighters in U.S. ports.

There has been a series of secret meetings between his most intimate advisers and the union leaders — the latest of which ran for over an hour on the afternoon of Tuesday, April 28. This time the President directed McGeorge Bundy, his personal foreign affairs specialist, to meet with such union men as Thomas (Ted) Gleason, head of the Longshoremen, Joseph Curran, National Maritime Union chief and Paul Hall, leader of the Seafarers.

The President ordered Bundy in because such Cabinet members as Dean Rusk, Luther Hodges, Orville Freeman and even Willard Wirtz had failed to move the waterfront workers from their boycott of any ships which had delivered any type of cargo to Communist Cuba.

Also unique about the Tuesday meeting was its location. The union chiefs met with Bundy — and Secretary of Labor Wirtz — in the office of AFL-CIO president George Meany on the eighth floor of the national labor headquarters across the square from the White House. This time the government came to the house of labor.

At the beginning of the discussion Bundy made it clear that Mr. Johnson had asked him to come over and that both of them hoped the union leaders would not let the President down. They then began arguing over the unions' boycott of the Mavrolean shipping interests of London.

THIS COMBINE controls 87 ships sailing under various flags. Of this fleet at least 38 freighters have carried cargo to Castro. A huge quantity of vital supplies was delivered when Castro really needed the tonnage — when his creaky production and transportation systems were badly out of gear.

Finally the Mavrolean people did take nine vessels off the Cuba run. Since it's now U.S. government policy to forgive and take such ships off the American blacklist, the company wants these nine freighters to work U.S. ports. However, the firm still has 29 ocean carriers steaming regularly into Cuba with important cargoes.

Mavrolean says it will take its vessels off the Cuban run as their charter (contracts) for such voyages to the island expire. This means a few will be peeled off each month until February, 1965.

Of course, as the ships are freed from these charters for the Cuban run Mavrolean wants them to be free to pick up cargoes anywhere in the United States.

Bundy told the labor leaders that the ships should be permitted to do this and that the Longshoremen's Association, reflected the attitude of his labor colleagues in the room. He said that his men would not handle such ships because they did not want foreign shipping fleets abandoning the Cuba trade piecemeal. He believed the servicing of Castro by ships of free nations should end all at once. Gleason asserted bitterly that the foreign shippers would quit the Cuban business only after they had taken the "cream off the trade with the Communist government there." After serving a government he believes to be an enemy of the United States, the ships would put into our ports with low wage crews and take business from U.S. seafarers.

As an example he pointed to the Tulsa Hill, a British ship operating out of Hong Kong with a Chinese crew. It got itself off the U.S. government blacklist and then put into the port of Baltimore on Jan. 21 to pick up grain for London. The Longshoremen have been boycotting the ship since Jan. 21. She still is in Baltimore.

BUNDY REPLIED with the assertion that the President had made a pledge to foreign shippers and could not be let down.

At this point big Joe Curran, ever irreverent, retorted: "Will Mr. Johnson give our unemployed sailors jobs as ranch hands on the LBJ ranch?"

The union leaders estimate that more than 2,000 American seamen would lose their employment if the Mavrolean fleet trader with Cuba — moved in on U.S. ports.

"We would be rewarding a shipper who supplied Fidel Castro and also be committing suicide," one labor man said after the meeting. "We would just about wipe out our own merchant fleet if this became policy."

And it may. The unions can be expected to yield if Lyndon Johnson calls them in and says: "The President of the United States wants you to end your boycott of such ships."

Serious Issue Debated

By David Lawrence

Amendment Deals With Fundamentals Of Justice

What's the jury trial amendment to the civil rights bill all about? On its face it seems to be a question of whether a person who could be put in jail on a charge of contempt of court should have the right to trial by jury. Would a person prefer to have judgment passed David Lawrence on him by a jury of 12 citizens or by just one individual—a judge?

This is not an easy question to answer. For sometimes a jury is not able to understand the fine points of the law and may make a mistake, whereas a judge who is familiar with all the intricacies of the statutes would presumably do a better job—though often some judges seem to be politically minded.

Basically, the whole controversy arises now in connection with civil rights because of a fear that juries in the South may not administer justice as it should be. The legislation pending in the Senate is designed to cover citizens in all parts of the country and to secure justice for everybody—not just people in one section.

What constitutes "contempt"? It involves disobedience of an order issued by the court or else misbehavior inside a courtroom. There seems to be universal acceptance of the idea that any disorder inside a courtroom should be punished by the judge without any jury trial. There is a distinct difference of opinion, however, as to what should be done with respect to disobedience of a court order outside the courtroom.

THE ISSUE as it is being debated in congress is a very serious one. It's something that ought to be given many months of deliberation instead of just a few days. It strikes at the root of the American system of justice. The Constitution says plainly in three separate provisions:

1. "The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury."

2. "In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed."

3. "In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved."

THE COURTS arbitrarily have tried to define a crime in different ways. As recently as last year in the proceedings for criminal contempt against Gov. Barnett of Mississippi, the Supreme Court by a 5-4 vote decided against the request for a jury trial. Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black, Goldberg and Douglas dissented. In his opinion, Justice Black wrote:

"I think that this doctrine that a judge has inherent power to make himself prosecutor, judge and jury seriously encroaches upon the constitutional right to trial by jury and should be repudiated."

In spite of these views expressed by the "liberal" justices, most of the liberals in the Senate will vote instead to repudiate the words of the Constitution.

There is a popular impression, moreover, that jail sentences are imposed only in the case of criminal contempt, but actually an individual may go to jail in a "civil contempt" case as well.

CRIMINAL CONTEMPT usually results in punishment of the defendant by a fine or imprisonment, in a definite amount and for a definite time.

Under the civil rights bill passed by the House, the judge would be able to try a criminal contempt case without a jury and impose sentence in certain instances where the fine was to be $300 or less or where the imprisonment is 45 days or less.

An individual also can be jailed in a civil contempt case. Whether a person is in jail for civil contempt or for criminal contempt, it is just as much a punishment or disgrace. One prominent lawyer wrote to this correspondent the other day:

"It will make little difference to the defendant whether he is in jail on a charge of civil or criminal contempt as long as he is, in fact, in jail. The court can simply leave him there until he complies with its order. Or it can levy a conditional fine which he will have to pay if he does not comply and still be in contempt. Or it can fine him so much a day until he does comply. Or it can do all of these things. These are examples of civil contempt cases where a jury is not available."

"DECISIONS of American courts make it clear that there is no right to trial by jury in civil contempt. That will continue to be the law until some statute changes it."

"The jury trial amendment, whatever its form may take, is an illusion as long as it is confined to criminal contempt. If the proponents of the bill want to make a concession, the amendment must include both civil and criminal contempt. This, of course, should not include contempts committed in the immediate presence of the court."

So it's evident that neither side is all wrong nor all right on this issue and that serious consideration should be given to the whole matter because it involves a precedent of far-reaching importance.

It's just one of a number of civil rights measures that are being rushed through Congress because of political pressures and intimidation by threats of violence or street demonstrations.

This is not the proper way to enact legislation dealing with fundamental principles of justice.

Scene Stealer

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON Actors wouldn't like to work with President Johnson. At 55, he is greatest scene-stealer of our time except maybe for Soviet Premier Khrushchev and French President de Gaulle.

But Khrushchev at 70 has quieted down and De Gaulle at 73 makes only an occasional appearance.

In the Senate the civil rights fights, weeks old and far from settled, seems as remote as a debate in a cave compared with the single picture of Johnson holding a beagle by its ears till it yelps.

The United States says it will continue its U2 flights over Cuba, and Khrushchev insists there will be trouble if it tries, but at the moment that's not half so real as Johnson making a speech to people in his garden.

Republicans torment themselves wondering about the presidential chances of Goldwater, Rockefeller, Nixon, Lodge and Scranton but on the day Johnson exceeds the speed limit who remembers about the Republicans?

The Vietnamese war is going badly, despite all the American help. But that's hard to visualize. It's a lot easier to remember Johnson on television and radio announcing the end of the rail dispute.

This country wants to see democracy in Latin America but, while a new military government runs Brazil with an iron hand, Johnson chewing the fat with newsmen sticks in the mind.

The Soviet-Chinese split may be one of the turning points in history but, with all its complications and ideologies, it's harder to understand than Johnson dangling the promise of another tax cut, if and maybe.

Who is going to remember the dispute with Panama over the Canal Zone, lingering and unsettled, when his head is filled with stories about Johnson dancing?

The Cyprus shootings make growing ill will between Greece and Turkey, two American allies.

Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace spends weeks in Northern presidential primaries, proving the North has segregationists, too, but one guess on who captures the eye when Johnson makes one speech at the opening of the World's Fair?

The Johnson pace, indoors and outdoors, is enough to make kids wonder, when they have to stay glued to their books, how he ever finds time for his homework.

The union chiefs met with Bundy — and Secretary of Labor Wirtz — in the office of AFL-CIO president George Meany on the eighth floor of the national labor headquarters across the square from the White House. This time the government came to the house of labor.

At the beginning of the discussion Bundy made it clear that Mr. Johnson had asked him to come over and that both of them hoped the union leaders would not let the President down. They then began arguing over the unions' boycott of the Mavrolean shipping interests of London.

THIS COMBINE controls 87 ships sailing under various flags. Of this fleet at least 38 freighters have carried cargo to Castro. A huge quantity of vital supplies was delivered when Castro really needed the tonnage — when his creaky production and transportation systems were badly out of gear.

Finally the Mavrolean people did take nine vessels off the Cuba run. Since it's now U.S. government policy to forgive and take such ships off the American blacklist, the company wants these nine freighters to work U.S. ports. However, the firm still has 29 ocean carriers steaming regularly into Cuba with important cargoes.

Mavrolean says it will take its vessels off the Cuban run as their charter (contracts) for such voyages to the island expire. This means a few will be peeled off each month until February, 1965.

Of course, as the ships are freed from these charters for the Cuban run Mavrolean wants them to be free to pick up cargoes anywhere in the United States.

Bundy told the labor leaders that the ships should be permitted to do this and that the Longshoremen's Association, reflected the attitude of his labor colleagues in the room. He said that his men would not handle such ships because they did not want foreign shipping fleets abandoning the Cuba trade piecemeal. He believed the servicing of Castro by ships of free nations should end all at once. Gleason asserted bitterly that the foreign shippers would quit the Cuban business only after they had taken the "cream off the trade with the Communist government there." After serving a government he believes to be an enemy of the United States, the ships would put into our ports with low wage crews and take business from from U.S. seafarers.

As an example he pointed to the Tulsa Hill, a British ship operating out of Hong Kong with a Chinese crew. It got itself off the U.S. government blacklist and then put into the port of Baltimore on Jan. 21 to pick up grain for London. The Longshoremen have been boycotting the ship since Jan. 21. She still is in Baltimore.

BUNDY REPLIED with the assertion that the President had made a pledge to foreign shippers and could not be let down. At this point big Joe Curran, ever irreverent, retorted: "Will Mr. Johnson give our unemployed sailors jobs as ranch hands on the LBJ ranch?"

The union leaders estimate that more than 2,000 American seamen would lose their employment if the Mavrolean fleet trader with Cuba — moved in on U.S. ports.

"We would be rewarding a shipper who supplied Fidel Castro and also be committing suicide," one labor man said after the meeting. "We would just about wipe out our own merchant fleet if this became policy."

And it may. The unions can be expected to yield if Lyndon Johnson calls them in and says: "The President of the United States wants you to end your boycott of such ships."

Serious Issue Debated

By David Lawrence

Amendment Deals With Fundamentals Of Justice

What's the jury trial amendment to the civil rights bill all about? On its face it seems to be a question of whether a person who could be put in jail on a charge of contempt of court should have the right to trial by jury. Would a person prefer to have judgment passed David Lawrence on him by a jury of 12 citizens or by just one individual—a judge?

This is not an easy question to answer. For sometimes a jury is not able to understand the fine points of the law and may make a mistake, whereas a judge who is familiar with all the intricacies of the statutes would presumably do a better job—though often some judges seem to be politically minded.

Basically, the whole controversy arises now in connection with civil rights because of a fear that juries in the South may not administer justice as it should be. The legislation pending in the Senate is designed to cover citizens in all parts of the country and to secure justice for everybody—not just people in one section.

What constitutes "contempt"? It involves disobedience of an order issued by the court or else misbehavior inside a courtroom. There seems to be universal acceptance of the idea that any disorder inside a courtroom should be punished by the judge without any jury trial. There is a distinct difference of opinion, however, as to what should be done with respect to disobedience of a court order outside the courtroom.

THE ISSUE as it is being debated in congress is a very serious one. It's something that ought to be given many months of deliberation instead of just a few days. It strikes at the root of the American system of justice. The Constitution says plainly in three separate provisions:

1. "The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury."
2. "In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed."
3. "In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved."

THE COURTS arbitrarily have tried to define a crime in different ways. As recently as last year in the proceedings for criminal contempt against Gov. Barnett of Mississippi, the Supreme Court by a 5-4 vote decided against the request for a jury trial. Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black, Goldberg and Douglas dissented. In his opinion, Justice Black wrote:

"I think that this doctrine that a judge has inherent power to make himself prosecutor, judge and jury seriously encroaches upon the constitutional right to trial by jury and should be repudiated."

In spite of these views expressed by the "liberal" justices, most of the liberals in the Senate will vote instead to repudiate the words of the Constitution.

There is a popular impression, moreover, that jail sentences are imposed only in the case of criminal contempt, but actually an individual may go to jail in a "civil contempt" case as well.

CRIMINAL CONTEMPT usually results in punishment of the defendant by a fine or imprisonment, in a definite amount and for a definite time.

Under the civil rights bill passed by the House, the judge would be able to try a criminal contempt case without a jury and impose sentence in certain instances where the fine was to be $300 or less or where the imprisonment is 45 days or less.

An individual also can be jailed in a civil contempt case. Whether a person is in jail for civil contempt or for criminal contempt, it is just as much a punishment or disgrace. One prominent lawyer wrote to this correspondent the other day:

"It will make little difference to the defendant whether he is in jail on a charge of civil or criminal contempt as long as he is, in fact, in jail. The court can simply leave him there until he complies with its order. Or it can levy a conditional fine which he will have to pay if he does not comply and still be in contempt. Or it can fine him so much a day until he does comply. Or it can do all of these things. These are examples of civil contempt cases where a jury is not available."

"DECISIONS of American courts make it clear that there is no right to trial by jury in civil contempt cases. That will continue to be the law until some statute changes it."

"The jury trial amendment, whatever its form may take, is an illusion as long as it is confined to criminal contempt. If the proponents of the bill want to make a concession, the amendment must include both civil and criminal contempt. This, of course, should not include contempt cases committed in the immediate presence of the court."

So it's evident that neither side is all wrong nor all right on this issue and that serious consideration should be given to the whole matter because it involves a precedent of far-reaching importance.

It's just one of a number of civil rights measures that are being rushed through Congress because of political pressures and intimidation by threats of violence or street demonstrations.

This is not the proper way to enact legislation dealing with fundamental principles of justice.

Scene Stealer

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Actors wouldn't like to work with President Johnson. At 55, he is greatest scene-stealer of our time except maybe for Soviet Premier Khrushchev and French President de Gaulle.

But Khrushchev at 70 has quieted down and De Gaulle at 73 makes only an occasional appearance.

In the Senate the civil rights fights, weeks old and far from settled, seems as remote as a debate in a cave compared with the single picture of Johnson holding a beagle by its ears till it yelps.

The United States says it will continue its U2 flights over Cuba, and Khrushchev insists there will be trouble if it tries, but at the moment that's not half so real as Johnson making a speech to people in his garden.

Republicans torment themselves wondering about the presidential chances of Goldwater, Rockefeller, Nixon, Lodge and Scranton but on the day Johnson exceeds the speed limit who remembers about the Republicans?

The Vietnamese war is going badly, despite all the American help. But that's hard to visualize. It's a lot easier to remember Johnson on television and radio announcing the end of the rail dispute.

This country wants to see democracy in Latin America but, while a new military government runs Brazil with an iron hand, Johnson chewing the fat with newsmen sticks in the mind.

The Soviet-Chinese split may be one of the turning points in history but, with all its complications and ideologies, it's harder to understand than Johnson dangling the promise of another tax cut, if and maybe.

Who is going to remember the dispute with Panama over the Canal Zone, lingering and unsettled, when his head is filled with stories about Johnson dancing?

The Cyprus shootings make growing ill will between Greece and Turkey, two American allies.

Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace spends weeks in Northern presidential primaries, proving the North has segregationists, too, but one guess on who captures the eye when Johnson makes one speech at the opening of the World's Fair?

The Johnson pace, indoors and outdoors, is enough to make kids wonder, when they have to stay glued to their books, how he ever finds time for his homework.

South Beaver School Board Sets Budget

The Southern Beaver County Joint School Board Monday night at Hookstown adopted a tentative budget of $536,000 for the 1964-65 school year.

The 1963-64 budget called for $529,383; however, an additional $17,000 was added to include salary adjustments. The budget will be completed at the next regular meeting June 1.

The board also voted to submit further objections to the proposed Beaver County School merger, citing the geographical disadvantages of joining with another district, and also the possibility of further growth of the South Beaver County District due to the opening of the new Shippingport - Midland Bridge.

A list of the objections, plus a copy of the proposed county plan, will be forwarded to the Department of Public Instruction in Harrisburg.

In other action, the board accepted an official school seal and standard class ring. The crest and ring designs were submitted for approval by Richard McGaffick, president of the Class of 1965, and representatives of the 9th, 10th and 11th grades.

The board also voted a change in the current school calendar, shifting the closing day of classes from June 5 to June 9, which was necessitated due to days lost last winter because of the weather.

A letter was received from the Rev. Alexander C. Wilson, pastor of the Mill Creek and Hookstown Presbyterian Churches, concerning religious and moral teachings in the schools.

Rev. Wilson based the letter on a statement recently adopted by the churches, and said he would like to see such classes of instruction introduced into the school. The request was tabled to give members time to familiarize themselves with the subject.

Permission was granted to the head custodian, C. Raymond Glenn, or a member of his staff, to attend the school building custodians and matrons conference at Beaver Falls High School June 25-26, sponsored by the Beaver County Maintenance Supervisors Association.

Permission was given to the Senior Class for its annual trip to Washington May 22-25; for field trips of the earth and space science class of Grade 10-A to the museum and aviary in Pittsburgh on May 26 and Science Club's tour of the St. Joseph Lead Co. in Potter Township next Tuesday. Mrs. Marie Elliott will sponsor both trips.

The high school band, under the direction of George Russi, was authorized to present a concert Wednesday at the Potter Township Elementary School, and to participate in the July 4th parade in Midland.

Treasurers from each district of the joint board were elected, with the jointure treasurer to be selected at the next meeting.

said, "We feel Council should have ample time to study the proposal and hear opinions from constituents. We would not want Council to make a decision this momentous without considering it fully."

Elimination of the post would lead indirectly to firing Wilkinson from his job as head of the tax office.

Wilkinson's report said a city-wide door-to-door survey now under way has led to adding 226 new accounts to the tax office files. He said each new account is expected to produce $25 a year in additional tax revenue.

When the survey is complete, at least 100 more new accounts will be added, representing about $8,000 a year in additional receipts, he said. Wilkinson pointed out the cost of the survey by a two-member team will be about $2,000.

He reported expenses of $7,355 for operation of the tax office in the first four months of 1964. They included $5,352 for salaries of four employees; $680 to print forms and supplies; $498 for incidentals and $481 to date for the survey.

The expense includes $485 for purchase of a new calculating machine, Wilkinson said. He said a used safe donated to the tax office by the First Federal Savings & Loan Association was moved into City Hall yesterday.

Wilkinson recommended that Council attempt to work out a reciprocity agreement with Midland Borough covering tax payments by persons who work in one community and live in another.

He also proposed that Council seek to persuade the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. to deduct the tax from pay of East Liverpool residents employed there. That move would reduce the cost of collecting the tax as much as 25 per cent, he said.

Wilkinson said he will make his next report to Council after the quarter ending June 30.

Except for Bucher's comment on the deferred legislation to eliminate Wilkinson's job, Council received the commissioner's report without comment. Wilkinson read the report on the floor and then turned over a copy to Council. It was received and filed.

No Reported Injured In Ship-Barge Crash

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—An out-bound freighter collided with an oil barge in Mobile harbor early today and both burst into flame. The Coast Guard said it had no report of injuries.

The fire in the bow of the 447-foot ore carrier Prospector was extinguished within a short time.

The Coast Guard said the ore carrier later reported a fire in a forward hold.

Catigani Elected Music Unit Head In Beaver Local

Joe Catigani of Calcutta, employee of the Crucible Steel Co., was elected president of the Beaver Local Music Parents Association at a meeting Monday night at the high school.

He succeeds Mrs. Alwyn Purinton Jr. Keith Sevy was elected vice president; Mrs. Jack Havice, secretary, and Mrs. Beth Steiner, treasurer.

Officers were installed. Discussion was held on proposed new band uniforms.

The annual spring band concert will be held Friday night. Next meeting will be June 1.

Vote

same time, it listed six Republicans and five Democrats.

Here's the turnout at other precincts today, compared with the 1962 forenoon vote: 1-C, 5 Republicans and 9 Democrats today, one Republican and 5 Democrats in 1962; 2-I, 9 Republicans and 12 Democrats today, no comparative figure for 1962; 3-C, 16 Republicans and 11 Democrats today, 6 of each party in 1962; 4-C, 9 Republicans and 5 Democrats today, 6 Republicans and 2 Democrats in 1962, and 4-E, 9 Republicans and 10 Democrats today, 5 Republicans and 7 Democrats in 1962.

In the 1962 primaries, the city showed a forenoon vote of 735. The countywide total was 12,667. In 1954, when East Liverpool cast 402 morning votes, the countywide total was 8,200.

In 1960, when the county's vote hit 15,839, the precincts in East Liverpool, St. Clair and Liverpool Townships cast a total of 5,594. The countywide turnout showed 9,306 Republicans and 6,553 Democrats. In the East Liverpool area, the vote was made up of 3,030 Republicans and 2,594 Democrats.

The 165 polling places in Columbiana County opened at 7:30 a. m., Daylight Saving Time, and will close at 7:30 tonight. In any area on Eastern Standard Time, that means the polls will operate from 6:30 to 6:30.

Tabulation of the returns is expected to extend well into tomorrow morning. In the last comparable election in 1962, the Election Board completed its unofficial canvass at 3:30 a. m. Following the 1960 primaries, the unofficial count was complete at 4:45 a. m.

A "flash count" will be made tonight shortly after the polls close on East Liverpool area returns in the Republican and Democratic U. S. senator races.

Precinct officials will count the senatorial returns first, then phone the figures to the Election Board. The "flash count" will cover the 47 precincts in the city and Liverpool and St. Clair Townships.

In the 1962 election, the board completed the quick count 40 minutes after the polls closed, obtaining returns from 47 precincts on the two parties' gubernatorial races.

The order in which the returns will be tabulated was prescribed by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

The first section of the count will cover offices from U. S. senator through congressman-at-large and judges of the Ohio Supreme Court to 18th District congressman. The second segment will cover county offices on both tickets, plus any local question or issue.

The third section will take in judges of the 7th District Court of Appeals, state central committeemen and women, state representative, Common Pleas Court judge, delegates and alternates at-large and district delegates and alternates to the two parties' Presidential nominating conventions.

the apparent belief that this wouldn't go down so well with Ohio's conservative Republicans. The state official also appealed to Goldwater backers to support him. Taft said he hadn't made up his mind about a presidential nominee.

No responsible politician was ready to say in advance that this sort of campaign would be effective against one of Ohio's greatest political names. But there were cautionary notes that a great many white voters in Ohio were disturbed about racial demonstrations and might lodge protest votes with Brown.

The case of the earth-orbiting Glenn was intriguing. Again no responsible politician wanted to say that Glenn, who quit the race after he developed an inner ear infection after a fall in a bathtub, would get more than a substantial vote against 75-year-old incumbent Sen. Stephen M. Young, seeking renomination.

Streets

proved. Costs were discussed in a conference last week with an official of the Ohio Tar & Asphalt Co. of Canton, Murray related.

Murray said the committee also recommends a proposal under which the city would apply new surface treatments without cost for streets which were given the first layer of the low cost blacktop in the 1962 program.

The city has a backlog of 200 tons of slag that could be used in the work, Murray said. The work could be accomplished for comparatively little cost by purchasing asphalt and then applying the material with city crews and equipment, he said.

The 1962 program covered 58,000 square yards of streets, while 38,000 square yards were treated in 1963, Murray said.

The councilman said he hopes the city can continue annually with the program of assisting in the cost of new surface treatments and applying second coats to streets already treated.

As in the past, the work will be set up on a "first come, first served" basis, Murray said. The petitions will be accepted as long as the city's matching funds hold out, he said.

Councilman James Cunningham praised the committee for the proposal to apply a second treatments free for streets that were surfaced in the 1962 program.

He also commented that some unsurfaced streets are becoming dusty in the hot weather and should be oiled.

President George E. Willshaw pointed out the city already has advertised for bids on road oil.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

She's Italian From The Waist Up

If I know what a wow is, then Miss Pat Collins is a wow. She's a tall, olive-skinned kitten with lemon hair and black stockings. She wears a pale blonde wig-turban and, for most of your interview with her, a pair of sun glasses encased in dramatic white frames. The pink lipstick on the full lips is almost white. The perfume is dramatic as a bonfire.

Alan Gill

She talks a triphammer-fast Hollywoodese, slowing down only to give an occasional word a slow, hoarse, Bankheadian vulganzing, as with the word "gorgeous" in the following sentence: "My legs, darling, are gorgeous."

MISS COLLINS is, as you may have heard, a night club hypnotist who has appeared on "The Steve Allen Show" twice, has dropped in on "The Bill Dana Show" and recently was dropped off "The Jimmy Dean Show" because someone on the ABC network got to worrying about hypnotists on TV.

At interview's end, the lady removes her dark glasses and allows a stranger to gaze upon her three-quarter profile, which is a treat of considerable magnitude.

"Who?" she challenges you, posing.

"Sophia Loren?" you respond. "Thank you," she says, "because a fellow just the other day wrote, 'Ann Sothern.' Actually, my eyes are too big. They're not just brown but almost black. And my nose has a bump in it, though it helps keep the glasses on."

"I DESIGN the frames and have 30 pairs of glasses, 110 pairs of shoes and goodness knows how many gowns. The glasses help tone down the sex. When I put them on, it's 'Okay, gang, let's turn on Page 27, you know?'"

Dismissing her from network television appearances, Pat feels is not only rude; it is "discriminatory" and "ignorant."

"A hypnotist simply cannot put people under on the air, if she's taken the simple precaution of blocking out her voice during the induction," she said. "But somebody got the idea that if I mentioned pimples, every nitwit in the world would get the fixed idea that he has pimples."

"I'D LIKE to do a TV series, though. I have a great idea that involves hypnotism and of course everyone's laughing at it. Ten years ago, they laughed at the idea of a talking horse."

"I'll be on with Steve again when I get back to the coast and the subject matter, darling, is me. What else?

"I'll do a 'Farmer's Daughter' and an 'Adams and Evil,' too. But I'd love to play a witch in the movies; I've been burned at the stake and know what I'm up against. By the way, I photograph like Sophia."

"At the club, I can tell who the swingers are in the first five minutes. If someone begins coming on just a bit wild, I cool it."

"And I can tell if a guy has a defense thing going. The guy who says, 'Hey, I bet you can't hypnotize me'—well, he may be all right."

"I HAD Sal Mineo playing the drums when he hadn't played them for three years. And I had Lloyd Bridges swimming like a skin-diver through the place."

"Later, I helped Lloyd memorize a script he had to know in 24 hours. Through hypnosis, I helped give him the confidence to tackle one of his big ambitions—to be a song-and-dance man. Under hypnosis, some wild and woolly people become quiet, and a housewife who's never said boo might sing."

"At every performance, 10 to 15 people in the audience will go under. Oh, you can spot them later. They've got one arm up in the air. Sometimes one of them will come up to me glassy-eyed and I'll say, 'Sit down, darling, while I wake you up.'"

"I USED TO HAVE a drummer who was fine until I put him under once to help him stop biting his fingernails. I let him keep one thumb for nibbling. But he got hung up and would go under every performance."

"No I've got Tommy. One night I was hypnotizing a magazine editor whose name was Tommy Somebody-or-other. I was saying Tommy this and Tommy that, and before I knew it my Tommy was under."

"Now he goes under every night. He's a nice boy, Tommy. Never misses a beat."

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Dieter Slims Waist Without Calisthenics

Exercise means a setting in action; bodily exertion or the sake of keeping the organs and functions in a healthy state. Let no one assume that calisthenics are the only means of shaping up and slimming down.

Our reducer-extraordinary, whose story was reported in mid-April, shunned calisthenics. "I can't abide those ups-and-downs," she confessed. Yet, this homemaker wound up with a 24-inch waistline. In fact, she slimmed eight inches off waist, five inches off the bust and 10 inches off the hips. To bring her back to mind, this was the reducer who "came back from oblivion."

Ida Jean Kain

BAFFLED as to how this dieter could magically shape up without exercise, I wrote for an explanation. The mystery is solved. She likes hard, physical work. Here is her latest letter.

"When I said I did not like exercise, I misled you. I am not afraid of hard, physical labor. I love it! In fact, I am taking a few minutes out right now to write this, as my rest period, after tearing down the remains of my old wooden back porch. We are in the process of building a new brick and concrete one. I hauled six wheelbarrow loads of fill dirt... and it's uphill all the way, mixing by hand two batches of concrete for the footing for the steps, then pouring and leveling it. All this by myself.

"Last summer we had six truckloads of topsoil delivered. Believe me, it was a small mountain. I moved the whole thing, by wheelbarrow load to the rear of the yard, and am still moving it as I make my different gardens. Our yard slopes right much from the house to a creek - bordered woods. I've terraced the whole thing and made rock gardens on the different levels.

"AT PRESENT, I've got at least 300 good - sized granite rocks outlining these rock gardens, and I've lugged every one of them myself... and lovingly set each into its place. I've dug out and hauled off a good hundred or better wheelbarrow loads of our clay soil, and replaced it with topsoil. Maybe that's where I got my small waist?

In the summer my two daughters and I swim, at least two or three times a week. And I mean swim... not lying in the sun by the pool. No, it's just the lie down on the floor 1-2-3-4 grunts type of exercise I hate. "I thought perhaps you might be interested to know also that I had polio at 15. My right leg and arm were paralyzed. They said I'd never walk again. With God's help I not only walk but neither my arm nor my leg show any outward signs of the polio. I do tire out when I do the heavy work... but I still love it."

U.S. Business Outlook Described As Excellent

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The first quarter of 1964 was notable for American business as far as profits were concerned.

This good news for stockholders poured in a steady stream from corporations' annual meetings, which were held by the hundreds in April.

It emphasized that the country is enjoying unusually good times and that the outlook for the immediate future is excellent.

Outstanding among the reports was that of giant General Motors Corp., the No. 1 auto maker. Its first quarter profits were the greatest for a three-month period of any corporation in history.

In many cases increases in profits far outdistanced those in sales, indicating that cost-cutting procedures inaugurated when business was suffering from a profit squeeze have paid off.

For example, U.S. Steel Corp. reported a 72 per cent gain in first quarter profits over a year earlier on a sales gain of only 11 per cent. Continental Can Co.'s profit climbed 50 per cent on a sales gain of 7 per cent.

A Wall Street Journal tabulation of first quarter earnings reports of 548 companies showed their combined net income had advanced 21.1 per cent over a year earlier to $3.8 billion.

Two of three companies increased their profits and more than 50 reported record first quarter sales and earnings.

Of 33 classifications of industries, only two—tobacco and apparel—failed to equal their 1963 first quarter results.

Tobacco company profits were hurt by the reaction to the U.S. surgeon general's report that cigarette smoking causes lung cancer, but cigarette sales have made a comeback and the profit outlook is promising.

The airline and steel groups, which made relatively poor showings in the first three months of 1963, rang up the best gains.

Good gains also were posted by motors, chemicals, building materials and heavy machinery, office equipment, metals, pulp

Nervous Boy Seeks Escape In Books

"Dear Dr. Myers: You have helped us in the past with the bed-wetting problem of our son, David, eight years old, which he has finally overcome. David loves books and now that he can read himself, reads everything he can get his hands on. His teacher (third grade) report-Dr. Garry Myers ed he was reading in school when he should be doing other assignments. I feel he has a healthy regard for books, which is fine, but that perhaps he retreats into them too much and I am frankly worried about David's mental health.

"At school, he often does not hear directions and his teacher has to repeat his name several times and the other children have to nudge him before he responds.

"SOMETIMES HE is unable to handle an uncomfortable situation and will burst into tears. This occurred last week when he forgot his lunch money at school, and similar outbursts happen quite often at home.

"He has lots of playmate friends but is scared of a bully of his own age. While the other neighborhood boys stand up to this bully, David stands up to him, too, but he cries.

"David is very nervous and high-strung. When he comes home from school, he gets the entire household stirred up with some activity. He chews on furniture and the sleeves of his sweatshirt and seems always to be putting things into his mouth.

"According to his teacher, his biggest problem is messy work. He always has to be doing something with his hands and his desk and papers will be covered with small pencil and crayon marks. He's in such a hurry to get things done he makes spelling mistakes when he knows better. He seems to have good relations with his father and he's limited on televisioning.

"THERE IS A mental hygiene clinic in our city which would be hard for us to afford. But we would go there if it would really help.

"I have tried to be calm with David but his nervousness makes me nervous. It seems I have been nagging the boy ever since he was born. I do pray every day for patience."

My reply in part:

Well, at least your boy is an avid reader, which should go far to guarantee his future success at school. While he needs to do what he is told to do at school, let us hope his teachers are patient with him when they find him reading a book instead. His reading should quiet him. Perhaps you could encourage him to read more at home.

I hope you work harder on yourself to calm down and not let yourself get irritated and as nervous as the boy. It's not easy. Sit down with Dad and work out a few regulations for your boy that you parents can agree on and enforce.

BE STRICT about these rules and then try to hold your tongue at other times. Have fun with him. When he must be punished, require him to sit for half an hour unamused. Never repeat commands. Try to develop more self-control and poise.

I hope you keep in close touch with David's doctor. At almost any sacrifice, you should get in touch with your local mental hygiene clinic.

My bulletins, "The Nervous Child," "Your Child and His Playmates" and "A Parent's Prayer," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

She's Italian From The Waist Up

If I know what a wow is, the Miss Pat Collins is a wow. She's a tall, olive-skinned kitten with lemon hair and black stockings. She wears a pale blonde wig-turban and, for most of your interview with her, a pair of sun glasses encased in dramatic white frames. The pink lipstick on the full lips is almost white. The perfume is dramatic as a bonfire.

Alan Gill

She talks a triphammer-fast Hollywoodese, slowing down only to give an occasional word a slow, hoarse, Bankheadian vulcanizing, as with the word "gorgeous" in the following sentence: "My legs, darling, are gorgeous."

MISS COLLINS is, as you may have heard, a night club hypnotist who has appeared on "The Steve Allen Show" twice, has dropped in on "The Bill Dana Show" and recently was dropped off "The Jimmy Dean Show" because someone on the ABC network got to worrying about hypnotists on TV.

At interview's end, the lady removes her dark glasses and allows a stranger to gaze upon her three-quarter profile, which is a treat of considerable magnitude.

"Who?" she challenges you, posing.

"Sophia Loren?" you respond. "Thank you," she says, "because a fellow just the other day wrote, 'Ann Southern.' Actually, my eyes are too big. They're not just brown but almost black. And my nose has a bump in it, though it helps keep the glasses on."

"I DESIGN the frames and have 30 pairs of glasses, 110 pairs of shoes and goodness knows how many gowns. The glasses help tone down the sex. When I put them on, it's 'Okay, gang, let's turn to Page 27, you know?'"

Dis-inviting her from network television appearances, Pat feels it is not only rude; it is "discriminatory" and "ignorant."

"A hypnotist simply cannot put people under on the air, if she's taken the simple recitation of blocking out her voice during the induction," she said. "But somebody got the idea that if I mentioned pimples, every nitwit in the world would get the fixed idea that he has pimples."

"TD LIKE to do a TV series, though. I have a great idea that involves hypnotism and of course everyone's laughing at it. Ten years ago, they laughed at the idea of a talking horse."

"I'll be on with Steve again when I get back to the coast and the subject matter, darling, is me: What else?

"I'll do a 'Farmer's Daughter' and an 'Adams and Evil,' too. But I'd love to play a witch in the movies; I've been burned at the stake and know what I'm up against. By the way, I photograph like Sophia. 'At the club, I can tell who the swingers are in the first five minutes. If someone begins coming on just a bit wild, I cool it.'

"And I can tell if a guy has a defense thing going. The guy who says, 'Hey, I bet you can't hypnotize me'—well, he may be all right."

"I HAD Sal Mineo playing the drums when he hadn't played them for three years. And I had Lloyd Bridges swimming like a skin-diver through the place."

"Later, I helped Lloyd memorize a script he had to know in 24 hours. Through hypnosis, I helped give him the confidence to tackle one of his big ambitions—to be a song-and-dance man. Under hypnosis, some wild and woolly people become quiet, and a housewife who's never said boo might sing."

"At every performance, 10 to 15 people in the audience will go under. Oh, you can spot them later. They've got one arm up in the air. Sometimes one of them will come up to me glassy-eyed and I'll say, 'Sit down, darling, while I wake you up.'

"I USED TO HAVE a drummer who was fine until I put him under once to help him stop biting his fingernails. I let him keep one thumb for nibbling. But he got hung up and would go under every performance."

"No I've got Tommy. One night I was hypnotizing a magazine editor whose name was Tommy Somebody-or-other. I was saying Tommy this and Tommy that, and before I knew it my Tommy was under."

"Now he goes under every night. He's a nice boy, Tommy. Never misses a beat."

U.S. Business Outlook Described As Excellent

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The first quarter of 1964 was notable for American business as far as profits were concerned.

This good news for stockholders poured in a steady stream from corporations' annual meetings, which were held by the hundreds in April.

It emphasized that the country is enjoying unusually good times and that the outlook for the immediate future is excellent.

Outstanding among the reports was that of giant General Motors Corp., the No. 1 auto maker. Its first quarter profits were the greatest for a three-month period of any corporation in history.

In many cases increases in profits far outdistanced those in sales, indicating that cost-cutting procedures inaugurated when business was suffering from a profit squeeze have paid off.

For example, U.S. Steel Corp. reported a 72 per cent gain in first quarter profits over a year earlier on a sales gain of only 11 per cent. Continental Can Co.'s profit climbed 50 per cent on a sales gain of 7 per cent.

A Wall Street Journal tabulation of first quarter earnings reports of 548 companies showed their combined net income had advanced 21.1 per cent over a year earlier to $3.8 billion.

Two of three companies increased their profits and more than 50 reported record first quarter sales and earnings.

Of 33 classifications of industries, only two—tobacco and apparel—failed to equal their 1963 first quarter results.

Tobacco company profits were hurt by the reaction to the U.S. surgeon general's report that cigarette smoking causes lung cancer, but cigarette sales have made a comeback and the profit outlook is promising.

The airline and steel groups, which made relatively poor showings in the first three months of 1963, rang up the best gains.

Good gains also were posted by motors, chemicals, building materials and heavy machinery, office equipment, metals, pulp and paper, mining, petroleum and electronics.

Only 14 of the companies reported losses, compared with 32 in the 1963 first quarter.

In addition to sharp cost control, more efficient operations through automation and improved facilities are important factors in the brighter profit picture.

Another influence was the firming of prices in many lines which enabled management to offset increased labor costs.

$25 Given Choir Fund By Holy Name Society

The Holy Name Society of St. Aloysius Catholic Church voted Monday night to donate $25 to help finance a trip to the New York World's Fair by the East Liverpool High School Concert Choir.

Fifty-two attended the meeting, at which M. J. Sweeney, president, presided. Fr. Carl Nicolay, spiritual director, offered prayer.

The group voted unanimous endorsement of the two public school levies on the ballot today after hearing a talk by Carl Peini, high school principal. He was introduced by James McGowan, program chairman. Next meeting will be Monday, June 1.

"SOMETIMES HE is unable to handle an uncomfortable situation and will burst into tears. This occurred last week when he forgot his lunch money at school, and similar outbursts happen quite often at home."

"He has lots of playmate friends but is scared of a bully of his own age. While the other neighborhood boys stand up to this bully, David stands up to him, too, but he cries."

"David is very nervous and high-strung. When he comes home from school, he gets the entire household stirred up with some activity. He chews on furniture and the sleeves of his sweatshirt and seems always to be putting things into his mouth."

"According to his teacher, his biggest problem is messy work. He always has to be doing something with his hands and his desk and papers will be covered with small pencil and crayon marks. He's in such a hurry to get things done he make spelling mistakes when he knows better. He seems to have good relations with his father and he's limited on television."

"THERE IS A mental hygiene clinic in our city which would be hard for us to afford. But we would go there if it would really help."

"I have tried to be calm with David but his nervousness makes me nervous. It seems I have been nagging the boy ever since he was born. I do pray every day for patience."

My reply in part:

Well, at least your boy is an avid reader, which should go far to guarantee his future success at school. While he needs to do what he is told to do at school, let us hope his teachers are patient with him when they find him reading a book instead. His reading should quiet him. Perhaps you could encourage him to read more at home.

I hope you work harder on yourself to calm down and not let yourself get irritated and as nervous as the boy. It's not easy. Sit down with Dad and work out a few regulations for your boy that your parents can agree on and enforce.

BE STRICT about these rules and then try to hold your tongue at other times. Have fun with him. When he must be punished, require him to sit for half an hour unamused. Never repeat commands. Try to develop more self-control and poise.

I hope you keep in close touch with David's doctor. At almost any sacrifice, you should get in touch with your local mental hygiene clinic.

Deaths and Funerals

Former City Barber Taken

Services and burial were held in Carmel Valley, Calif., for John E. Sager, a former Chester barber, who died Sunday in a hospital there.

Mr. Sager operated a barber shop on Carolina Ave., Chester, before moving to California about 15 years ago.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Christina Stern Sager, and two daughters, Mrs. Lee Perry of Carmel Valley and Mrs. Nicholas Trbovich of Fresno and three grandchildren.

Mrs. George Brand

Mrs. Jessie E. Brand, 62, of Barberton, former East Liverpool resident, died Monday at 11:20 a. m. at Citizens Hospital in Barberton where she had been a patient 10 days. She had been in ill health for some time.

She was married to George Brand, also a former East Liverpool resident, and had resided in Barberton for 25 years. She was a member of the auxiliary of the Barberton Eagles, where she had been employed for 10 years.

Mrs. Brand was born in East Liverpool April 1, 1902, daughter of George E. Pullins and Florence McKim Pullins.

Besides her husband, she is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Eva Bowers and Mrs. Frances Snowden, both of Cleveland, and Mrs. Laura Berringer of Coolville; two step-sons, Robert J. Brand of Columbus and George M. Brand, and one grandchild.

Services will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Canfield-Hickman Funeral Home in Barberton by Dr. Merrill Chaffee of the First Methodist Church. Graveside services will be held Thursday noon at Locust Hill Cemetery, Chester.

Henry Weigel

Henry Weigel, 76, of Monaca died Monday night at his home.

A native of Monaca, Mr. Weigel was a member of East Liverpool Eagles Lodge and a retired employee of the Phoenix Glass Co. of Monaca.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ethelyn Weigel; a son, Dr. Joseph Weigel of Monaca; two daughters, Mrs. Walter Foley of Beaver and Mrs. Eberly Blacketer of Rockville, Md., and eight grandchildren.

Services will be held Thursday at 1:30 p. m. at the Batchelor Funeral Home with burial in Sylvania Hills Memorial Park in Rochester.

Friends may call from 7 to 9 tonight and 2-4 and 7-9 p. m. Wednesday at the funeral home in Monaca.

One Commissioner Cheaper

Health Advisory Group Aims County Merger Plan

LISBON — The proposal to combine all health departments in the county with the County Health Department under one commissioner was discussed by the Columbiana County Health Advisory Board Monday night, contending this would save expenses and qualify the county for federal assistance.

Mayor Dean Stockman of Lisbon, chairman, presided.

At present, none of the four city health departments are receiving federal aid because they are not classified as a health department under federal standards. East Liverpool and Salem are getting state aid for having doctors serve part-time as health commissioners. Wellsville and East Palestine do not have doctors and health commissioners at present.

It was pointed out that combining all the departments is not feasible at present because health standards are not the same. East Liverpool has milk inspections but the county does not and East Liverpool does not have plumbing inspections and the county has.

Mayor Merrill Hall of East Liverpool and Mayor Dean Cranmer of Salem are the only representatives from the city health departments at last night's meeting, along with Stockman, Mayor Ralph Kennedy of Leetonia, and Charles Gause, Hanover Township trustee, members of the Advisory Board's committee.

Martin Alex of the State Health Department Bureau of Local Services at Cuyahoga Falls, spoke on the consolidation and answered questions.

Representing the County Health Department were Atty. Howard Cole and Felix Butch of Lisbon, Fred Johnson of Summitville and Glen Hawkins of New Waterford, and Harry Stockdale, county sanitarian, and Francis Bezdek of Lisbon R. D., chairman of the Columbiana County Health and Safety Committee, which prompted the study.

Another meeting will be called in June for further study of the consolidation aimed at better health standards in the county.

Board Talks To 3 Seeking Executive Job

Three applicants for the position of executive head of Beaver Local School District were given preliminary interviews by the Board of Education Monday night.

The board is meeting with applicants for the post from which George VanHorne has resigned to accept a position with Geneva College.

Among those interviewed last night were Roy Cashdollar, principal at Beaver Local High School; Charles Ashworth, executive head at Burton - Troy District in Geauga County, and a third area man.

The interviews were held during a closed session of the board, which said after all preliminary applications have been checked and the applicants narrowed to three or four, further interviews will be held during public meetings.

At an open meeting afterward, James Butler of near Apples Corners was hired as an extra maintenance man to assist in the district for the remainder of the school term and during the summer repair work.

The board granted a contract to the Leetonia Typewriter Co. for cleaning and repairing of the manual typewriters in the schools. The Kennedy Office Supply Co. and Stevens Typewriter Co. also bid.

It was announced the annual eighth grade Recognition Night program May 27 will be held at the high school because there will be more seating for the audience. The class numbers 197.

Another interview session will be held Monday.

County Buys Road Paint

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Monday authorized purchase of 3,000 gallons of white and 800 gallons of yellow center line paint from the Perry & Darrich Co. of Cincinnati after tests showed it met county standards. The white paint bid was $1.49 and yellow $1.55 per gallon.

C. Desantis Co. of Cleveland was awarded the bid for 250 gallons of white guardrail paint at $2.70 per gallon. There were 13 bidders for the three types. In other business, commissioners authorized annexation to the city of East Palestine of 4.34 acres owned by Willard E. and Christina Hall in the southwest quarter of Section 26 in Unity Township. Hall, a city water department employee, owns Hall's Greenhouse in a portion of the land. This will now go to East Palestine City Council for approval before the transfer is completed.

Travel allowance was authorized for two county tuberculosis nurses to attend the National Tuberculosis Association convention in New York City May 25-29.

Next meeting is Thursday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm an 18-year-old high school senior (boy) with the worse case of acne in the whole world. Lots of guys in our class have acne, but nobody has it as bad as I do.

The woman who lives next door to us is very friendly with my mother. She gives Mom medical advice, legal advice and social advice. If she told my mother to put motor oil on her cereal, Mom would do it.

This neighbor says acne should be left alone and that I will outgrow it. She claims too much doctoring will make acne worse and that just plain soap and water and time will take care of everything.

I'm so self-conscious about the way I look that I'm ready to quit school and go into hiding.

Mom always hands me your column (when you agree with her) so will you please print my letter and suggest something that might help? — MISERABLE MIKE.

Dear Mike: Is that neighbor lady a physician? If she isn't I suggest your mother take you to one immediately. Acne cases often respond to a change in diet, special medication and lamp treatments. Skin problems can have devastating emotional effects on teen-agers. You need the advice of an expert, not the backfence opinion of a neighbor. And now, Mike, please hand this column to your mother.

Odds 3-1

Dear Ann Landers: In recent weeks you have dealt with "the compulsive talker." I wish you would tell a distraught victim how to cope with the problem. In my case, I'm plagued by three compulsive talkers — my wife, her mother and her aunt.

I've been told that I'm a good listener and I appreciate the compliment. But even a good listener likes to get in a sentence now and then. With the three aforementioned females it is utterly impossible. They end every sentence with "and — however" or "and — furthermore," just to let you know they aren't through talking.

Is there a tactful way to break in? Or must one just shout down the compulsive talker and talk over him? — OLD BUNION EARS.

Dear Old Bun: Why bother? These wall-to-wall bores are not interested in conversation. They want only to talk talk talk.

Your best defense when trapped by someone who has three mouths and no ears is to tune him out and think about something else.

Phony And Corny

Dear Ann: Maybe you outsmarted yourself. That letter which you said was a phony — the one from the man who wrote he had been dating the same girl for 37 years — could have been on the level.

A lovely woman who lives next door to my grandmother has been going with the same man since their high school days. Her parents would not consent to a marriage because he was of a different religion and refused to change. So they just continued to go together, for the past 40 years.

The woman's parents died a long time ago but she feels it would be an insult to their memory if she married the man, so they are still going together.

Now are you willing to admit you made a mistake? — COLUMBUS.

Dear Columbus: When I feel I have made a mistake I'm not ashamed to admit it, but that yarn was such a patent phony that only an addle-brained idiot would buy it.

Re-read the letter, Bub — especially the part about the 83-year-old mother who could no longer chaperon the aging couple because she broke her hip skiing at Sun Valley last year. Then write again, will you?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Nominating Committee Set For Ministerial Association

A nominating committee was appointed at a meeting of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association, Monday at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church.

The Rev. Albert Rodenhansen, pastor of the First Baptist Church, association president, presided.

The committee includes the Rev. Irwin Jennings of the Calvary Methodist Church, chairman, the Rev. C. G. Schlosser of the First Church of the Nazarene and the Rev. James Donald, Glenmoor United Presbyterian.

A slate of officers will be presented when the group meets May 25 at the Travelers Hotel for the second Tri-State Chaplaincy luncheon. The brief session business will precede the luncheon.

The Rev. Charles Kampmeyer, pastor of the host church, introduced E. L. Wheatley, president of the IBOP, guest speaker. He related the union's interest in providing low - cost housing for senior citizens.

Plans were made for a family picnic June 15 at 1 p.m. at the Beaver Creek State Park.

Churches planning Vacation Bible Schools this summer are asked to give the dates to the Rev. H. Gene Toot, associate minister of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church, who has been appointed to publicize the dates in The Review, through the courtesy of the association. The deadline is May 20.

The Rev. Ellis C. Traylor, new minister of the First Church of Christ, was introduced.

The Rev. D. R. Salisbury Jr., rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, was in charge of devotions.

Klondyke Playground Improvement Cleared

Council approved an ordinance Monday night appropriating $1,000 from income tax revenue to blacktop a section of the Klondyke Playground for use as a basketball court.

Councilman Floyd Murray, chairman of the street committee, said the action "is just a start on improvement of playgrounds with the aid of the East Liverpool Recreation Council."

Murray said Council anticipates further improvements next year. Law allows expenditure of funds on any municipally owned ground used as a playground site, he explained.

The young people's and adult choirs of the Bethel Presbyterian Church, and the choirs of the Oak Ridge Presbyterian Highlandtown Methodist Churches, participated in the special program. The Rev. William Harper of the Bethel church and the Rev. Allen Rose and the Rev. Murray of the Highlandtown church also had a part in the observance.

Mrs. Jennie Carter was in charge of the program and Mrs. Catherine Leatherberry, grange pianist, was accompanist. Some 100 attended.

Report Planned May 18

Council Studies Cutback On Sessions In Summer

Council agreed Monday night to consider a cutback in its regular meetings from two to one a month during the summer vacation season extending from June through August.

The proposal was made by Councilman Norman Bucher of the rules committee, who pointed out it sometimes is difficult to muster a quorum of four in summer because of the absence of members on vacation.

He said the plan is under consideration and a report may be presented at the next meeting May 18.

IN OTHER business, Council referred to the finance committee a letter from the Board of Thompson Park Commissioners explaining that three items were overlooked in the annual appropriation ordinance.

The commissioners said $8,000 should be provided for the rotating swimming pool fund; $900 for liability insurance at the pool and $800 for water rent which it must pay the city.

The finance committee also was given a letter from Local 24, International Association of Fire-Fighters, asking if any action had been taken on the fire department's recent request for a wage increase. Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr., committee chairman, said several meetings have been held but no decision has been reached.

Council slated an investigation of a report from the State Liquor Control Board that two local permit-holders have requested transfer of permits. Under a new procedure set in state law, notice of the applications was sent Council to find if it had any objections.

THE BOARD explained Tony Tangredi has applied to shift the permit of the Roma Cafe from 223 Broadway to 1845 Dresden Ave. and VFW Post 66 seeks to shift its permit from the old Winland Building to a temporary location at 650 Green Ln. while its new headquarters is being erected on Ravine St.

The three members-at-large and the ward councilman affected will investigate the requests, Council decided.

Council received and filed a letter inviting the members to a Chamber of Commerce dinner May 18 at the Country Club. Clerk Lawrence Applegate was instructed to write the Chamber explaining the dinner falls on Council's regular meeting night.

Council also filed a letter from School Supt. Paul Blair advising that the Board of Education has decided not to change the location of any school bus stops for the balance of the current term. Council had sought changes in a few to place them in conformity with shelters for children erected on a trial basis by a Columbus concern.

BLAIR explained the bus stop locations are set by contract at the beginning of each term. However, he said the board "will be glad to consider" proposed changes for the 1964-65 term.

Joseph Burcham of W. 4th St. urged Council to discharge Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson. He said that "it didn't take the mayor all day to tell a Democrat goodbye," referring to discharge of Mrs. Jean Flasco as city relief director by Mayor Merrill Hall.

Cecil Cook, 1880 Anderson Blvd., also filed a complaint against Wilkinson. He said he moved out of East Liverpool in December 1962, making a final payment on city tax the following Jan. 14. After residing at Wellsville for a time, he returned to East Liverpool and went to the tax office to learn his status, he said.

COOK DECLARED that Wilkinson "jumped all over me and talked to me like a dog." He said Wilkinson asserted he must pay the tax for 1963. Council did not comment on his remarks.

James Flasco of Idaho Ave. told Council he believes the appointment of Paul Zehnder several months ago as a member of the Board of Health has not been ratified by Council, as law requires. President George E. Willshaw said the report will be investigated.

Flasco said he feels Council also should probe a dress manufacturing concern's decision not to locate a plant in East Liverpool after an investigation earlier this year. No action was taken.

Councilman Floyd Murray said a car formerly used as a police cruiser will be transferred to Dog Warden Donald Chapman after a cage has been installed in the trunk area. Mur-

6-Acre Tract Will Be Used In Recreation

Council gave approval Monday night to an ordinance setting aside six acres of a 28-acre site occupied by the municipal landfill dump in Bloomfield for recreation purposes as part of the city's public park system.

Part of the tract now is occupied by a Pony League baseball field. The section made part of the park system never has been used as part of the landfill site, in which refuse and garbage are buried. Councilmen said there was no indication the ground ever would be needed for refuse disposal.

The legislation officially transfers the tract from the jurisdiction of the incinerator department and makes it part of the park system.

Since the ground was purchased from incinerator department funds, the ordinance provides that the department will be reimbursed with payment of $3,800 from the general fund. The ordinance sets forth that the "true value" of the ground was set at $3,800.

In another property matter, Council gave approval to an ordinance to vacate unused sections of Division Alley near Center St. The vacated section extends toward Park Way. Its length is about 66 feet.

Owners of abutting property petitioned for vacation of the stretch. As part of the agreement, Council reserved for the city the right to maintain, repair, replace and service all utility lines, including water mains, gas mains and storm and sanitary sewers.

The ordinance requires the petitioners to pay costs connected with the action, including the expense of legal notices and fees for recording the changes in county records.

Canned foods should be stored in a clean dry place. Don't put them in a cupboard that is near a radiator or a steam pipe.

Designed To Ban Segregation

Methodist Church Adopts Broad Civil Rights Policy

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Methodist Church, after spirited debate, has adopted a sweeping policy on civil rights designed to persuade Methodists to abolish racial segregation in their churches and in communities in general.

Delegates to a worldwide General Conference of the Methodist Church approved the policy by a show of hands Monday night.

The policy is embodied in a report by the Committee on Christian Social Concerns. It is now church policy but is not church law.

This means that the policy cannot be enforced by such measures as expulsion or censure.

Some of the highlights of the policy are: —Pastors and church officials are to open their churches to persons of all races.

—Methodist bodies, organizations and individual Methodists are to use their influence to secure fair employment practices and non-segregated services in the corporations in which they hold investments.

—Equal rights should be provided for voting, law enforcement, education, employment, housing, and public accommodations.

—Elimination of racial segregation, including de facto segregation, in all public and Methodist schools.

The term "civil disobedience" was omitted from a substitute paragraph before the report came to a vote before about 900 delegates.

The original version would have condoned civil disobedience in "rare instances where legal recourse is unavailable." The substitute paragraph read in part:

"In some instances, where legal recourse is unavailable or inadequate for redress of grievances from laws or their application that, on their face, are unjust or immoral, the Christian conscience will obey God rather than man."

The chairman of the commission which drafted the report, Harold A. Bosley of New York City, told the conference that the substitute portion was not a weaker version.

"We do not intend to give a single inch in endorsing the principle of civil disobedience."

The adoption of the policy came as the conference entered its second week in Pittsburgh. The conference, which meets every four years, is the supreme policy-making body in the church.

Value Of $1,812,721 Listed In Car Titles

LISBON — Clerk of Courts Carl Stacey reported in his April summary that 594 titles issued for new vehicles during the month represented $1,812,721.

He said a total of $9,227.38 was paid the county treasurer in fees collected in Common Pleas Court and the Car Title Department.

The clerk paid $7,496.48 to the state treasurer from the collection of sales and use tax and $64,360.16 was paid the state treasurer from the collection of the dealers' tax, the county receiving $725.05 for its 1 per cent poundage. The state also received $1,667.30 for car title fees.

There were 52 civil cases filed in Common Pleas Court and the title department issued 4,520 auto titles, 71 duplicate titles, 1,013 memorandums, 19 duplicates, 1,791 notations of liens, 1,357 cancellations of liens and 1,494 acknowledgments.

Former Key Man In Alliance For Progress Quits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teodoro Moscoso, a one-time bright star in the Kennedy administration as key man in the Alliance for Progress but shunted to a lesser task by President Johnson, has turned in his resignation.

Johnson disclosed Moscoso's resignation as U.S. representative on the Alliance's Inter-American Committee with a statement Monday which said Moscoso's counsel will be sorely missed by "all who have worked with him in this vast cooperative undertaking."

Moscoso, a Puerto Rican, is resigning to accept an appointment by Gov. Luis Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico as a member of a federal commission to study Puerto Rico's future political status, Johnson said.

Scoters To Be Used As Way To Nip Crime

NEW YORK (AP) — The police department will use motor scooters this summer as a means of combatting crime in parks.

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm said Monday that 25 scooters would be tested in Manhattan's Central Park and Prospect Park, Brooklyn, during the 5 p.m. to 1 a.m. shift. Arm said scooters can move much faster than a foot patrolman or mounted policeman and can get into areas not accessible to cars.

Postal Department Offered Financial Aid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The U.S. Post Office was offered temporary financial aid by a San Francisco city official Monday. Informed that the downtown

Rincon Annex post office branch would no longer be open until midnight weekdays, supervisor George Moscone suggested that the city pay for staffing the post office at nights for a month—or until the federal government straightens out its financial problems.

Mrs. June Burgess of Maine Blvd. is under observation at Salem City Hospital.

Palestine Trailer Bill Due Change

EAST PALESTINE — City Council Monday night agreed to rewrite an ordinance regulating house trailers and mobile homes.

It had passed on one reading, but there was considerable opposition voiced last night. Council then agreed to rewrite the legislation, incorporating some of the suggestions. It will be presented again May 18.

The main objection was the fact only a 30-day period was allowed to transfer a trailer from one section of the city to another. Some said it would take more time than this to set up sanitary connections.

The Pennsylvania Railroad said it will clean its own section of the James St. Creek. This is a large sewer tile running under the tracks. It will not participate in the general cleaning of the entire creek, which clogs and floods the area each spring.

Indian Items Shown

They will arrange the post's participation in the annual Midland celebration.

Francis Kane of Midland was accepted as a new member. Charles Cover, membership chairman, reported the final membership drive of the year is under way and urged all to pay their dues.

John Waddingham, commander, named Leon Postich, chaplain, and Charles Doyle, sergeant-at-arms, as co-chairmen of Memorial Day festivities May 30.

2 From Area Named Defendants In Suits

An East Liverpool man and a Chester area woman were named defendants in separate damage suits filed in Common Pleas Court Monday as the result of traffic mishaps.

George E. Davidson of Hammondsville seeks $25,000 from Olive Stewart of Chester R. D. 1, claiming personal injuries when the woman's parked car drifted, ran into his car and then struck the Walnut St. crossing shanty which he occupied as a crossing watchman for the Pennsylvania Railroad. He alleges back injuries causing permanent disability and also asks $250 for damages to his car in the mishap May 1, 1962.

In the other suit, Mr. and Mrs. John Frailey ask $7,500 from Andrew Holtz, 901 St. George St., in a collision of their cars Dec. 22, 1963, in Wellsville. Mrs. Frailey asks $5,000 and her husband the remainder, both claiming personal injuries when their car was struck from the rear.

Plans will be completed at the next meeting.

Steve Crano, Sons of Legion chairman, reported on the boys' meeting and said they plan on participating in the program.

The post will sponsor the annual Invitational Track Meet May 13 at Midland High School athletic field, providing medals and ribbons. All high schools in Beaver County will be invited to participate.

Coble, auxiliary chairman, reported on the ward games party the auxiliary conducted at Deshon Veterans Hospital at Butler Friday. A fishing party will be held for the veterans in June.

The auxiliary Poppy Day will be held May 25-26, with post members assisting.

The post will honor gold star mothers with a covered dinner at the home Monday evening.

Mark Pike, blood bank chairman, reported on progress of the project and urged all members to join. Coble reported on the recent District 26 meeting at Wampum.

Waddingham presided. Next meeting will be May 18.

4 Of Rogers Streets Due For Closing

ROGERS — Official closing of four streets in the village was authorized by Council Monday night.

Council authorized legislation be prepared for closing College St., an alley on the southeast hill side of the village, an alley on the east side and a section of a street off Main St.

None of the four rights - of-way have been used for a number of years, officials said. Adjacent property owners asked to have them closed.

Atty. Donald Elliott, solicitor, was directed to prepare the legislation.

Glenn Rhodes, Council president and acting mayor, presided. Councilman Wallace Swaney was absent. Bills totaling $330 were paid.

Albert Starkey, street commissioner, said new street signs are being erected and the project should be completed by the end of the month.

Next meeting is June 1.

Khrushchev To Pay Ben Bella Return Visit

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev told Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella today he would pay him a return visit at the first opportunity.

Khrushchev was saying goodbye to Ben Bella at Simferopol Airport, in the Crimea. Ben Bella, who is paying a state visit to the Soviet Union, flew to Leningrad.

Alvin T. Babb Selected As Rotary Club's Head

Alvin T. Babb, vice president and secretary of YELP Service, Inc., and past president of the Chamber of Commerce, has been elected president of the Rotary Club for 1964-65.

Babb, 56, of 1547 Globe St., who also is president of the new Community Improvement Corporation, succeeds Ralph A. Finley.

Other new officers are E. R. Chandler, vice president; Donald U. Honicky, sergeant-at-arms, and the Rev. Russell Mase, assistant sergeant-at-arms.

Re-elected are Harold B. Barth, who has served as secretary since the local club was organized in 1920, and Frank N. Richmond, treasurer.

The eight new directors are Babb, Chandler, Finley, Honicky, Richmond, Frank C. Dawson, Harold R. Sneddon and William E. Williams.

Officers and directors will begin one-year terms in July.

Babb, elevated from vice president, was Chamber president in 1961 and 1962. A native of the city and graduate of East Liverpool High School, he is former secretary of the City Planning Commission and a former member of the Municipal Civil Service Commission.

A member of Grace United Presbyterian Church, he has been active in Red Cross and

7,000 Flee To Uganda

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — The Uganda government says 7,000 refugees from Sudan have entered northeast Uganda in the past 10 days. The area has been a haven for southern Sudanese rebels since a 1955 army mutiny.

Rumors Fly On Plans To Oust Castro

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rumors are flying once again among Cuban exiles that new efforts will be made soon to topple Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

These reports, increasingly persistent both in Washington and in Miami, say the Castro Communist regime soon may find itself under terrorist and sabotage attacks both from within Cuba and from without.

The exiles say the outside groups will come from areas other than the United States.

Such a move, they explain, would avoid international complications for Washington as well as interference by U.S. planes and ships with such raiding parties.

U.S. officials appeared surprised when asked about the rumors. They indicated they had no information whatever about any such plans by the exiles, although they said they had read recently a statement by one Cuban exile leader, Manolo Ray, now living in Puerto Rico, that he and other leaders will be fighting inside Cuba by May 20.

The only major organized effort to overthrow the Castro government came in April 1961, when Cuban exiles, with U.S. help, failed in a sea and land attack against the Castro forces at the Bay of Pigs.

The exiles say a different type operation — much smaller than the Bay of Pigs in some ways, and much larger in others — is being planned.

They indicated the new attempt against Castro would be in the form of persistent sabotage, terrorist and subversion tactics, with no one large group in action, but as many smaller groups functioning as can be organized.

Exile forces have been claiming that despite intensive anti-subversive activity by the Castro government, opposition forces are finding it increasingly possible to infiltrate Cuba.

The anti-Castro groups apparently are depending heavily on what they insist is increasing disenchantment with the Castro government in Cuba.

Intelligence reports in Latin-American diplomatic circles, however, suggest that the Castro Communist dictatorship has become increasingly powerful as a state police organization, with little chance for sabotage.

VFW Post, Fire Units To Issue Bicycle Tape

The Chester VFW Post 6450, in co-operation with three area firemen's units, will begin distribution of reflectorized tape Wednesday for use on bicycles in the statewide bicycle safety program.

The tape will be affixed to fenders, forks and handlebars when children bring their bicycles to the fire departments, Wednesday night at Lawrenceville and Friday at Newell, both from 6:30 to 8:30, and at Chester Saturday from 1 to 5 p. m.

In Their Oratory

Truman Asks President Aspirants Use Discretion

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Harry S. Truman, who never gave or asked quarter in his own political campaigns, wants this year's presidential candidates to use "discretion in their oratory."

The former president, who won the 1948 presidential election with a blistering campaign that brought on one of the biggest upsets of the century, was feted last week in one of three scheduled birthday celebrations. He will be 80 May 8.

The 700 persons who attended the "farmers' tribute" to the still vigorous ex-president were a little surprised when he told them: "As we approach the heat of the contest, I hope that the candidates and their spokesmen use discretion in their campaign oratory, that they not sacrifice our national interest for the sake of narrow partisan political advantage."

"Now I am not exactly a mild-mannered campaigner myself, and I have been known to hit the issues pretty hard, but I never injected our foreign policy into any campaign, and I have never engaged in personalities."

There are those who might disagree with the latter part of that statement, but they were not present at a luncheon at which speaker after speaker to pay tribute to the president who stood up for farmers when they needed him. You set a standard for agriculture that I intend to carry on."

Freeman said Truman's staunch support of the farmer prevented a price collapse that would have been disastrous after World War II.

Only 14 Days Remain

City Senior Class Begins Pre-Graduation Activities

With only 14 class days, remaining in their high school careers, East Liverpool High School seniors are getting into the final rush which will culminate with commencement exercises June 2.

The Junior-Senior Prom on May 15 at Memorial Auditorium will launch the hectic activities.

The annual Senior Assembly marking the last class day will be held May 22 at Memorial Auditorium with parents invited. It will begin at 12:55 p. m.

THE CLASS sponsors awards for leadership and activities. The Daughters of American Revolution will sponsor a citizenship award and the Beth Shalom Congregation will present the fellowship award.

Nominations for the awards are made by all seniors and all faculty members. After tabulation, the nominations are used as a guide for final selection by a faculty committee appointed by Principal Carl F. Pelini.

Other awards made at the assembly go the class valedictorian and salutatorian and for journalism, drama, choir, band, secretarial and attendance.

Although May 23 is the last official class day, seniors who are not passing or whose work is incomplete will be required to continue in attendance.

The senior banquet will be held Monday, May 25, at 6:30 p. m. at the M-A with seniors asked to make reservations and pay $1 to help defray the cost.

CAPS AND GOWNS will be distributed to seniors on May 18 and will be worn for the senior assembly, baccalaureate and commencement.

Baccalaureate service will be held Sunday, May 31, at 8 p. m. in the M-A with the Rev. John Clark, pastor of the First Methodist Church, giving the sermon.

Salom Risk, author and lecturer, will give the commencement address at graduation rites on Tuesday, June 2, at 8 p. m. The class will be presented by Pelini and the diplomas presented by Harry D. McConville, president of the Board of Education.

Each senior will be given five tickets for baccalaureate and five for commencement. Two of the tickets are reserved in the best sections of A and B, which are the chair seats in the M-A. The other three are general admission and are not reserved.

TICKETS remaining after each senior is given two will be general admission tickets for the remaining chair seats.

bleacher seats above the rail and chairs on the floor.

The tickets will be distributed at rehearsals. The baccalaureate rehearsal is set for May 29 at 10 a. m. and commencement rehearsal June 1 at 1 p. m.

Other high school students will receive their report cards on June 5.

Regular classes will be held the morning of June 1 with final examinations in first and second period classes scheduled in the afternoon.

EXAMINATIONS on the third and fourth periods will be held the morning of June 2 and for fifth and sixth period subjects on the morning of June 3. There will be no afternoon classes either day. No classes will be held on June 4.

Any student who fails a course must remain after receiving his report card on June 5 in order to be rescheduled for the 1964-65 term.

Pelini said it also means bus students will have to find other means of transportation to their homes since the buses will leave at dismissal.

Students not remaining to consult with Bert A. Dawson, dean of boys, and Mrs. Ruth Conner, dean of girls, about a revision in their schedules will be scheduled as school officials see fit, Pelini said.

STUDENTS WILL receive a copy of their schedule in late summer. Schedule changes are not encouraged but will be considered if presented within a week after the schedule is received. No changes are planned after school begins.

Summer school will begin June 8 with classes being offered in American history, American government, world history, economics, English II and English III.

Only students who failed an English course are permitted to take English in summer school.

The majority of students attend to complete a requirement so they can take an elective during the regular school term.

Joan Merriam Due Wake Island Takeoff

HONOLULU (AP)—Joan Merriam was to take off from Wake Island today on a direct flight to Honolulu, the Federal Aviation Agency said.

Unfavorable weather conditions prevented her from leaving Wake Monday. The FAA said the Long Beach, Calif., housewife should arrive in Honolulu at 12:30 a.m. EST Wednesday.

Mrs. Mock Given Medal By Johnson For Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio's flying housewife, 38-year-old Valerie Mock, sported the Federal Aviation Agency's Gold Medal today and her four-year-old daughter, Valerie, carried a prize of her own—memories of a White House birthday party given in her honor by President Johnson.

The Columbus aviatrix, the first woman to fly solo around the world, was honored Monday by the president in a White House ceremony.

Johnson presented her the gold medal on an orange ribbon, citing her for her "historic and courageous flight". Then he named her vice chairman of the Women's Aviation Advisory Committee of the Federal Aviation Agency, saying he hoped she would eliminate red tape, promote safety in aviation and "get us all off the ground a little earlier when we're off schedule."

The petite housewife, whose record-breaking flight took 29 days, smiled happily as the president spoke.

In high good humor, the president looked around at Mrs. Mock, her husband Russell, her sons Roger, 17, Gary 16, little Valerie, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Fredritz of Newark, Ohio, and announced a daughter's award as well.

The White House cake—with a white icing and chocolate letters spelling out "Happy Birthday"—was produced with four lighted candles on it.

"Make a wish," the president told Valerie. She blew three of the candles out and the president urged: "One more to go." The last one went out and Valerie gave a big smile.

Later Mrs. Mock said Valerie had planned a birthday party at home and had to postpone it because of the White House ceremony.

The Mocks had to wait more than a half hour for Johnson to come to the garden outside his office but when he arrived he made up for all the waiting.

He had a joke on himself, too. He said he wanted to make it plain that he was never at any time offered the FAA medal for "my low altitude flying down in Texas." It was in reference to reports of his fast automobile driving.

While waiting for Johnson, Mrs. Mock told reporters she'd love to be an astronaut and go to the moon. She said she tried once to get in on the astronaut training program was told "they didn't accept married women."

"But they accept married men," a reporter replied. "I think it's terrible," Mrs. Mock said smiling.

Elkton Girls Fete Mothers

The Elkton Merry Maids 4-H Club held a tea Monday night in honor of members' mothers.

Fr. William Hohman of St. George's Catholic Church in Lisbon screened films of a trip to Japan, Hawaii, and other Far-Eastern spots.

The Official Board of the Methodist Church will meet Thursday night.

Kenneth Dixon, a student at Ohio State University at Columbus, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dixon.

Mrs. James Johnson of Newark has concluded a week's visit with relatives in this area, including her daughters, Mrs. John Woodburn and Mrs. Dean Ward of near Elkton.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Rapp of Columbiana visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Harrold. Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Huffman were Mr. and Mrs. Umberto Lattanzio of New Waterford and Mr. and Mrs. Harley Huffman of near Guilford.

The Jolly Eight Club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ralph Moore. Prizes in 500 went to Mrs. Hazel Lee, Mrs. George Jones and Mrs. Sidney Scroggs.

Action Continues Recognition For City's Employees

Council approved a resolution Monday night assuring continued recognition of Local 677, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, as bargaining agent for workers in various city departments.

The union previously had been recognized by the city, but on an annual basis in agreements signed between the union and the mayor. The recognition by Council in legislation means the union's status will continue unchanged unless the resolution is repealed.

The legislation stipulates that Council will meet with union representatives "on matters pertaining to wages, hours of work and health and safety of employees."

In a companion ordinance, Council removed a $2.50-per-month charge assessed in 1960 for deduction of union dues from city employees' paychecks. The legislation provided for a charge of 10 cents per deduction or a minimum of $2.50 a month to be paid by the union.

Hawaii-Japan Cable Snaps In Rough Seas

TOKYO (AP)—A deep sea telephone cable being laid as the last link of a 5,500-mile-long Hawaii-Japan cable broke Monday in rough seas 90 miles off Japan's Chiba Peninsula. The cable ship Long Lines reported it was going back 20 miles to try to pick up the broken end in 4,000-foot-deep seas with an anchor.

Let your
furnace pilot work for you all summer!

For year 'round comfort and convenience, as well as economy, keep the pilot of your Gas heating system lighted during the summer months. You'll find this tiny flame will serve you well. Here's how:

- 1. Longer Life for your Heating Equipment—The small amount of heat from the Gas pilot keeps your heating equipment dry during the summer. This protects the heating system from rust and corrosion, and adds years to the life of your equipment.
- 2. A More Comfortable Basement—Too high humidity, plus too little circulation of air, can make your basement an unpleasant place to work or play in summer. Both these conditions are helped markedly by simply leaving the flame of your Gas furnace pilot burning.
- 3. Heat When You Need It—A few hours' heat, even in summer, often will make your home more comfortable. With your Gas pilot on, you can "turn" up the heat any time it's needed. Convenient for those cool days in late spring and early fall, too!
- 4. You're "All Set" for Fall—Cold weather often strikes unexpectedly in the fall. With your pilot light on, all you need do is to reset your furnace thermostat to heating position. You'll have heat... without delay or inconvenience... when you leave your Gas furnace pilot on in summer.

Here's How To Set Your Thermostat for Summer

Simply move the thermostat to its lowest position. This will keep the heat off, yet leave the Gas pilot on to serve you all summer.

Peduzzi Resigns As Grid Aide; Cites Pressure On ELHS Coaching Staff Now

Rey Peduzzi, assistant varsity football coach for the past seven years, has submitted his resignation to Supt. Paul Blair, resigning his football post but will remain as a teacher.

The 30-year-old Peduzzi has been a devoted assistant coach at East Liverpool serving four years under Lou Venditti and the past three seasons on the staff headed by Bob Hedmond.

HE CAME to East Liverpool in 1957 after serving as an officer in the Marine Corps, and his first coaching job was here. Peduzzi teaches world history and will receive his Master's degree from the University of Pittsburgh on May 31.

Peduzzi cited the pressure which has been placed on the coaching staff recently. "In seven years since I have been here, the pressure has never been greater than it was last season and is now."

PEDUZZI, somewhat disturbed over whether or not head coach Bob Hedmond would be rehired for next season after a 7-3 record in 1963, spoke up for Hedmond when he said "when personal feelings are the basis for judging the competency of a man and not his accomplishments then it is time for me to

REY PEDUZZI
Resigns Grid Post.

disassociate myself with such a situation."

"I think the public has a right to question the athletic program because they support it, but the judgment should be based on many things and not personal feelings."

"IF BOB HEDMOND resigns as head football coach it's because of this situation which has been created, it isn't because he hasn't produced. With the material he has had and the schedule East Liverpool has played in the last three years, he has produced."

"I've been in the game seven years and have known a lot of coaches, but no one works harder than Bob Hedmond," Peduzzi said.

Much speculation has been made on whether Hedmond will be rehired as head grid coach and Jim Harris as head basketball coach. The Board of Education has drawn out its decision almost to the final Board meeting of the school year. The next regularly scheduled meeting is May 18 unless a special session would be called Monday night.

HEDMOND, who has been given three one-year contracts since he was hired in 1961, was rehired in February 1963 when he won out on a 3-2 vote by the board.

In addition to remaining as a teacher, Peduzzi also would continue to coach wrestling.

Peduzzi's resignation leaves two vacancies on the varsity staff and one at East Junior High. Blaine Morton resigned several weeks to accept a similar position at Massillon High and Paul Barbuto resigned as head football coach at East Junior High.

Koufax's Strikes More Effective Than Gibson's Expensive Beanball

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Sandy Koufax threw 39 strikes. Bob Gibson threw two beanballs and one bat.

Koufax won. Gibson didn't. Moral: Strikes are more effective — and less expensive.

Koufax, making his first start since injuring his arm April 22, pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 2-1, 10-inning victory over the Chicago Cubs Monday night, allowing only three hits and striking out 13 in an impressive return.

It was the 52nd time in his major league career that Koufax had struck out 10 or more in a game, leaving him only two 10-strikeout performances away from the record of 54 held by both Rube Waddell and Bob Feller.

Pirates Trip Cincy, 4-2

Gibson, meanwhile, got involved in the first beanball incident of the season and drew an automatic $50 fine along with Philadelphia's Jack Baldschun. The St. Louis right-hander also left himself open for further cation when he was ejected for throwing his bat toward the mound in the fourth inning.

Gibson threw two fast balls at the head of Phillies' pitcher Dennis Bennett in the third inning, apparently in retaliation for Bennett's decking the Cardinals' Julian Javier in the second inning. Gibson drew a warning from plate umpire Doug Harvey — and with it the automatic $50 fine.

Then, in the fourth, with Baldschun on the mound for the Phillies, Gibson was hit in the side by a pitch, and flipped his bat toward the mound. Baldschun immediately drew a warning and the automatic fine while Gibson drew a thumb from Harvey.

Gibson not only lost money — but a victory as well. When he left the Cardinals were leading 5-1 and won 9-2. Gibson, however did not qualify for the triumph because he didn't pitch the required five innings. Who got the easy victory? Lucky Roger Craig.

In other National League action, a fight broke out after Milwaukee had edged the New York Mets 2-1 behind Denny Lemaster's two-hit pitching. Willie Mays hit home run No. 10 in San Francisco's 3-2, 12-inning victory over Houston and Pittsburgh defeated Cincinnati 4-2.

Koufax had a one-hitter going until the eighth when Andre Rodgers tied the score 1-1 with a homer. The Dodgers won in the 10th when Dick Ellsworth, who allowed only eight hits, walked Dick Tracewski, hit Koufax on the foot with a pitch and then was touched for a single up the middle by Maury Wills.

Ken Boyer drove in four runs with a triple and two singles and Curt Flood, Carl Warwick and Tim McCarver collected homers in the Cardinals' victory over the Phillies. Warwick hit his homer, a two-run shot, on the first pitch after Gibson's bat-throwing incident, and Craig had little difficulty holding the 7-1 lead.

At Milwaukee, Lemaster gave up a leadoff homer to Charlie Smith in the first inning, then kept the Mets hitless until the ninth when Ron Hunt poked a one-out single. When Frank Thomas grounded out, Hunt raced around third and tried to score on the play. He was doubled up at home, where catcher Ed Bailey held onto the throw despite being knocked down by Hunt.

Bailey started to go after Hunt, but was restrained. However, Rod Kanehl of the Mets, who wasn't in the game, came off the bench and got involved in two short battles. He was jumped on by Len Gabrielson, then tangled with Gene Oliver before the umpires restored order.

Colavito Belts 7th & 8th In A's 3rd Straight Win

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Orlando Pena can leave his bubble gum and crayons at home as long as Rocky Colavito keeps the horns tootin'.

The Kansas City hurler, who drew reprimands last week for his habit of blowing bubbles while pitching and, marking his glove with crayons, beat the Los Angeles Angels 7-4 Monday night for the A's third straight victory.

Pena didn't have any of his playthings with him but he had Colavito and that was all he needed. The Rock crashed his seventh and eighth homers of the year, each time setting off the complicated system of lights and horns which greet each Athletic homer in Municipal Stadium.

The circuit shots gave Colavito the American League lead and kept the horns tooting overtime. The A's have belted eight homers in the last three games

Midland Defeats Potter Nine, 8-5

Pete Cilli's single in the sixth inning drove home two runs and broke a 5-5 tie as Midland went on to hand East Liverpool an 8-5 upset loss Monday at Colt Field.

The Leopards, in recording their fourth win in 11 games, outthit the Potters 9-8 and came from behind to gain the victory.

East Liverpool jumped on Tom Sams for three runs in the first inning but Joe Prodonovich came to the rescue in a relief role in the opening game and limited the Potters to two runs in the third inning.

Midland cameback with two runs in the top of the third to make it 3-2 but East Liverpool went in front with a pair in its half of the inning. Midland tied the score at 5-5 with three in fifth then went ahead with two more in the sixth and added an insurance run in the seventh.

Jim Hissom was the starting pitcher but was relieved by Mike Goodballet in the fifth. Shortstop Sam Zigerelli swung the big bat for the Leopards stroking a triple and double while driving in four runs. Second baseman Jim Miller banged out a pair of singles for the winners.

Dave Bowersock and Dick Smith each singled twice for the Potters, which now show a 4-5 record. The Potters were guilty of four errors.

Putt Fires 37 To Pace EL Golf Victory

Sophomore Harold Putt fired a one over par 37 and senior Bruce Burbick carded a 39 to lead East Liverpool's golf squad to a 10½-5½ victory over Weirton Monday at the Country Club.

The victory was the eighth in nine matches for the Potters. Ron Kinsey finished with a 42 for East Liverpool while Jerry Duncan carded 46 and Rich Anderson 47. Weirton's medalist was George Pearson with 39.

Oak Glen Nine Edges Beaver Local By 7-6

A game saving catch by right-fielder Dave McGowan and some neat relief pitching by Bill Wright carried Oak Glen to a 7-6 victory over Beaver Local Monday afternoon on the Beavers' diamond.

With Oak Glen in front by one run in the last of the seventh, a Beaver Local runner reached first base. Dennis Horger, a pinchhitter, sent a sharp line drive to rightfield but McGowan ran it down and turned the hard hit ball into a double play to end the game.

Wright relieved starter Bud Bayless in the fourth inning and went on to hurl shutout ball and only gave up one hit in the last three and one third innings to gain the victory.

Oak Glen scored two runs in the first, second and third innings and tallied what proved to be the winning run in the fourth. Beaver Local's relief pitcher Quetot hurled shutout ball for the last three innings. Ron Merritt, the starting pitcher for the Beavers, was checked with the loss. Four errors also led to the Beavers downfall.

Ed Wudarsky led Oak Glen's eight-hit attack with a triple, double and single. Joe Pease

Some men never outgrow the need for a wagon

A wagon has a way with men. Always has. Always will. Especially when it's a Dodge Wagon. Case in point: that Polara shown above. As rugged and handsome a carryall as you've ever laid hands on.

Inside—saddle-grained vinyl that resists cracking, scuffing, shrinking, stretching. Hand-fitted carpeting on the floor. A center armrest in front that snaps down solidly under your arm.

And there's room. Big, open room you can cram to the roof. Seating for six or nine passengers. And underhood—a choice of engines ranging from a frisky Six to an optional, ripstornin' 426 cubic inch V8. It's a tough combination to beat.

Look 'em over at your Dodge Dealer's. The wagons that have a way with men—Dodge Wagons. Man-sized. Man-powered. Eight versions to pick from. (And you might as well bring along your better half. Seems the gals prefer the big, strong, silent type, too.)

To Remain As Teacher

Peduzzi Resigns As Grid Aide; Cites Pressure On ELHS Coaching Staff Now

Rey Peduzzi, assistant varsity football coach for the past seven years, has submitted his resignation to Supt. Paul Blair, resigning his football post but will remain as a teacher.

The 30-year-old Peduzzi has been a devoted assistant coach at East Liverpool serving four years under Lou Venditti and the past three seasons on the staff headed by Bob Hedmond.

HE CAME to East Liverpool in 1957 after serving as an officer in the Marine Corps, and his first coaching job was here. Peduzzi teaches world history and will receive his Master's degree from the University of Pittsburgh on May 31.

Peduzzi cited the pressure which has been placed on the coaching staff recently. "In seven years since I have been here, the pressure has never been greater than it was last season and is now."

PEDUZZI, somewhat disturbed over whether or not head coach Bob Hedmond would be rehired for next season after a 7-3 record in 1963, spoke up for Hedmond when he said "when personal feelings are the basis for judging the competency of a man and not his accomplishments then it is time for me to disassociate myself with such a situation."

"I think the public has a right to question the athletic program because they support it, but the judgment should be based on many things and not personal feelings."

"IF BOB HEDMOND resigns as head football coach it's because of this situation which has been created, it isn't because he hasn't produced. With the material he has had and the schedule East Liverpool has played in the last three years, he has produced."

"I've been in the game seven years and have known a lot of coaches, but no one works harder than Bob Hedmond," Peduzzi said.

Much speculation has been made on whether Hedmond will be rehired as head grid coach and Jim Harris as head basketball coach. The Board of Education has drawn out its decision almost to the final Board meeting of the school year. The next regularly scheduled meeting is May 18 unless a special session would be called Monday night.

HEDMOND, who has been given three one-year contracts since he was hired in 1961, was rehired in February 1963 when he won out on a 3-2 vote by the board.

In addition to remaining as a teacher, Peduzzi also would continue to coach wrestling.

Peduzzi's resignation leaves two vacancies on the varsity staff and one at East Junior High. Blaine Morton resigned several weeks to accept a similar position at Massillon High and Paul Barbuto resigned as head football coach at East Junior High.

Koufax's Strikes More Effective Than Gibson's Expensive Beanball

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer Sandy Koufax threw 39 strikes. Bob Gibson threw two beanballs and one bat.

Koufax won. Gibson didn't. Moral: Strikes are more effective — and less expensive.

Koufax, making his first start since injuring his arm April 22, pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 2-1, 10-inning victory over the Chicago Cubs Monday night, allowing only three hits and striking out 13 in an impressive return.

It was the 52nd time in his major league career that Koufax had struck out 10 or more in a game, leaving him only two 10-strikeout performances away from the record of 54 held by both Rube Waddell and Bob Feller.

Gibson, meanwhile, got involved in the first beanball incident of the season and drew an automatic $50 fine along with Philadelphia's Jack Baldschun. The St. Louis right-hander also left himself open for further cation when he was ejected for throwing his bat toward the mound in the fourth inning.

Gibson threw two fast balls at the head of Phillies' pitcher Dennis Bennett in the third inning, apparently in retaliation for Bennett's decking the Cardinals' Julian Javier in the second inning. Gibson drew a warning from plate umpire Doug Harvey — and with it the automatic $50 fine.

Then, in the fourth, with Baldschun on the mound for the Phillies, Gibson was hit in the side by a pitch, and flipped his bat toward the mound. Baldschun immediately drew a warning and the automatic fine while Gibson drew a thumb from Harvey.

Gibson not only lost money — but a victory as well. When he left the Cardinals were leading 5-1 and won 9-2. Gibson, however did not qualify for the triumph because he didn't pitch the required five innings.

Who got the easy victory? Lucky Roger Craig.

In other National League action, a fight broke out after Milwaukee had edged the New York Mets 2-1 behind Denny Lemaster's two-hit pitching, Willie Mays hit home run No. 10 in San Francisco's 3-2, 12-inning victory over Houston and Pittsburgh defeated Cincinnati 4-2.

Koufax had a one-hitter going until the eighth when Andre Rodgers tied the score 1-1 with a homer. The Dodgers won in the 10th when Dick Ellsworth, who allowed only eight hits, walked Dick Tracewski, hit Koufax on the foot with a pitch and then was touched for a single up the middle by Maury Wills.

Ken Boyer drove in four runs with a triple and two singles and Curt Flood, Carl Warwick and Tim McCarver collected homers in the Cardinals' victory over the Phillies. Warwick hit his homer, a two-run shot, on the first pitch after Gibson's bat-throwing incident, and Craig had little difficulty holding the 7-1 lead.

At Milwaukee, Lemaster gave up a leadoff homer to Charlie Smith in the first inning, then kept the Mets hitless until the ninth when Ron Hunt poked a one-out single. When Frank Thomas grounded out, Hunt raced around third and tried to score on the play. He was doubled up at home, where catcher Ed Bailey held onto the throw despite being knocked down by Hunt.

Bailey started to go after Hunt, but was restrained. However, Rod Kanehl of the Mets, who wasn't in the game, came off the bench and got involved in two short battles. He was jumped on by Len Gabrielson, then tangled with Gene Oliver before the umpires restored order.

Beavers Run Over Foe For 6th Win

Beaver Local's track forces continued to march over their opponents and buried West Branch under an 85½-32½ score Monday afternoon on the Beaver oval for their sixth win in eight outings.

Coach Ed Stevens' Beavers came within one event of sweeping all first place spots winning 13 of 14. West Branch's Mench took the high jump at 5-8.

Warren Bradley, Roger Diddle and Jim McLaughlin were the double winners with Diddle capturing the 100-yard dash in his best time of the season at 10.4. He ran the 220-dash in 24.4. Bradley won the high hurdles in 16.5 and broad jumped 19 feet, 5¼ inch.

Tom Burnett turned in his best time in the half mile with a 2:10.2 clocking and Jim Smith was first in the 440 a distance he covered in 56.6.

Jim McLaughlin won the low hurdles in 23.4 and two Beaver runners, Dave Dailey and Don Goodman tied for first in the mile at 5:09. McLaughlin also placed first in the pole vault going over at 9 feet.

Larry Roberts stole the show in the field events when he broke his old shot put mark. The sophomore, who is improving fast, tossed the iron ball 44 feet. His old school record was 43 feet, 1¼ inches.

Dick Rudibaugh won the discus with a measurement of 106 feet.

Both the 880 and mile relay teams won. The half-mile won in 1:37.8 and the mile squad in 3:53.6.

Celtics Pick Up Counts In Draft

NEW YORK (AP)—The Boston Celtics, who usually win when it counts, expect to be winning with Counts next season.

The Celtics were pleasantly surprised to find Mel Counts still available when it came their turn to make a first-round choice in the annual National Basketball Association draft Monday. They quickly grabbed off the 7-foot Oregon State center as a potential back-up man to Bill Russell.

Russell's present back-up man on the six-time champion Celtics is 34-year-old Clyde Lovellette, who is considering retirement. This obviously prompted the Celtics to go for the big man when their turn to pick came around.

Under the NBA rules, the team with the poorest win-loss record picks first, the best last. That gave the New York Knicks first choice, Boston last, with the others picking in reverse order of the standings.

"Counts can run like heck for a big guy," Boston Coach Red Auerbach said. "We would like to have had Joe Caldwell, but we're satisfied."

The draft actually started with Los Angeles and Cincinnati exercising territorial choices—a system that will be abandoned next year—in advance of the regular round of picks.

The Lakers picked All-American Walt Hazzard, backcourt play-maker ace of the NCAA champion UCLA Bruins, and the Royals chose 6-8 George Wilson of Cincinnati.

Jim (Bad News) Barnes of Texas Western was the first man selected by the Knicks in the regular draft. The 6-foot-8, 240-pounder averaged 29.1 points a game last season and was No. 5 among the nation's collegiate rebounders.

Detroit, which had the second pick, surprised by making the 6-5 Caldwell, a swift Arizona State standout, its No. 1 choice. The Pistons had been expected to go for height.

Baltimore picked Ohio State All-American Gary Bradds, Philadelphia took Lucious Jackson of Pan American, St. Louis went for Jeff Mullins of Duke, a member of the Olympic team, and San Francisco tapped Barry Kramer of NYU in the other first-round picks.

It's Official Now, Hornung Signs Up

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—It's official: The Golden Boy is back.

Quietly, without fanfare and in a very routine manner, the Green Bay Packers mailed out a short, prepared release today that Paul Hornung, their all-environmental halfback, has signed for his seventh season in the National Football League.

Hornung, a three-time NFL scoring leader, sat out all of last year under suspension by Commissioner Pete Rozelle for betting on games. His was the biggest name involved in the NFL scandals of a year ago.

Both he and Alex Karras, Detroit Lion defensive tackle also under suspension, were reinstated last month.

"I don't expect to have any trouble coming back insofar as physical condition is concerned," Hornung said. "The biggest trouble should be in regaining my timing. I'll be working out with Bart Starr (Green Bay quarterback) and with his help I should be able to regain it."

No figures were mentioned in the routine release—which included Hornung's name with those of three other backs—but estimates of Hornung's salary were in the $25,000-$30,000 range about what he was receiving before the suspension.

The 28-year-old back led the league in scoring in 1959, 1960 and 1961, then missed about half of the 1962 season because of military service. He was still able to help the Packers to their second straight NFL championship.

When he was suspended last season, the Packers slipped to second in the Western Division behind league champion Chicago.

At 112 was Barry Terjesen of Wooster College and a stroke behind him in a four-way deadlock for fourth spot were Stu Hughes of Bowling Green, Bruce Rotte of Cincinnati, Bob Littler Jr., of Ohio University and Bill Schaub of Toledo.

Ohio State's best five scorers on its six-man squad totaled 578 strokes, six better than defending champion Ohio University.

The Buckeye shooters and their scores were Marsh, 111; Dick Stillwagon, 114; Mike Strapp, 117; John Timmons, 117; and Jim Brown 119.

Toledo with 587 was third and Kent State and Cincinnati wound up in a two-way tie for fifth place with 595.

Bowling Green 599, Miami 607, Denison 614, Akron 616, Dayton 622, Youngstown 625, Kenyon 629, Ohio Wesleyan 631, Oberlin 632, Wittenberg 632, Wooster 635, Wilmington 635, Ohio Northern 638, Xavier 641, Hiram, 642, Otterbein 644, Muskingum 648, Rio Grande 662, Mount Union 666, Heidelberg 667, Defiance 670, Ashland 678 and Bluffton 698.

A senior majoring in accounting, Lipitska came home with a one-under 71 for the first 18 and held a three-stroke advantage heading into the final nine.

He fired a 39 to beat back the challenge of Don Marsh, a sophomore at Ohio State, who finished one stroke back at 111. Marsh missed a chance for the title when he double-bogied on his final hole.

Laughlin Ties Laneve In Golf Contest At Club
 Jim Laughlin and Dr. J. J. Laneve shared honors in Sunday's par-birdie-eagle contest at the East Liverpool Country Club finishing with 24 points each.

Don Burbick scored 23 in the contest while Bill McNutt, Dr. C. M. Kinsey, Dr. R. J. Kinsey and Bill Hocking Jr. finished with 22's.

In the second division Bill Mayers won with 17.

Two teams tied for Saturday's best ball medal play, Don Schreckengost and Don E. Smith fired 66 but were tied by W. B. Laughlin and Bob Bowersock.

Dr. R. J. Kinsey and R. T. McDaniel finished with 67.

In the second division, J. N. Porter and J. M. Roberts combined for 62.

Clay Plans 6-Weeks, 14-Nation Africa Tour
 NEW YORK (AP)—Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, who prefers to be called Muhammad Ali, is preparing to leave for a six-weeks, 14-nation tour of Africa.

The undefeated boxing ruler said Monday night he will leave within a week by plane "to accept a series of invitations that have been sent to me from leaders in the nations of Africa."

He said that no fixed itinerary has been prepared but said "my associates are working on it now."

Mets In First Night Tilt At New Stadium

NEW YORK (AP)—Will visibility improve the New York Mets?

Probably not, but the Mets are going to try. They will play their first night game in their new Shea Stadium Wednesday night against the Cincinnati Reds—who started the whole business of getting the baseball troops out of the hot sun, back in 1935.

Newell Juniors Set Practice Tonight
 Boys who signed up for the Newell Hot Stove League Junior team are to practice tonight at 6:30 at Clark Field.

And the Mets are going to have twice as much light, which is not a bad idea since they are back in the cellar again.

The lights in the new park will be turned on in ceremony just before the game starts. Chief button pusher will be Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., now assistant secretary of commerce, whose President father did the job May 24, 1935.

The Cincinnati park was lighted with eight towers containing 616 bulbs, for the 1935 inaugural.

The lamps were about 1,500 watts each, for a total of about one million watts.

Shea Stadium has only two light towers. The other lights are hung on the rim of the roof. There are 1,600 bulbs—half of them mercury and half quartz, giving both brilliant and soft light—in the Shea Stadium system, and they provide about two million watts.

That may still not be enough to make the Mets look good.

Russian Girls Win World Cage Crown
 LIMA, Peru (AP)—Russia's powerful team crushed Bulgaria 72-55 Monday night and clinched its second straight title in the Women's World Basketball Tournament.

Czechoslovakia beat Brazil 69-41 in the other game on the final doubleheader of the long tournament.

The Russian triumph left them with a 6-0 record in the final round robin series. Czechoslovakia finished with a 5-1 record and second place.

Montreal Star Is Selected As Rookie Of Year

MONTREAL (AP)—Jacques Laperriere, the young defenseman who helped the Montreal Canadiens to a surprise regular season title, today was named winner of the Calder Memorial Trophy as the National Hockey League's rookie-of-the-year.

Laperriere collected a total of 117 points in the voting by hockey writers and broadcasters in each of the circuit's six cities. The voting was done after the first half of the campaign, based on games through Dec. 31, and again after the close of the season.

Laperriere led with 53 points in the first half and again with 64 points in the second half. He will receive $1,500 from the league—$1,000 for winning the trophy and $500 for leading in each half.

Laperriere is only the second defenseman to win the Calder Trophy. Kent Douglas of the Toronto Maple Leafs was chosen the outstanding rookie last year.

John Ferguson of Montreal was the runner-up this year with 65 points. He will receive $500.

Fiction, Drama, Music Omitted

1964 Pulitzer Prizes Awarded In Journalism

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1964 Pulitzer Prizes in journalism have been won for newspaper exposes of fraud and corruption, the story of success in solving racial problems, the coverage of President John F. Kennedy's assassination, and the war in South Viet Nam.

For the first time since the prizes were established in 1917, awards Monday were omitted in fiction, drama and music. No work in those three fields was deemed worthy of being honored.

The St. Petersburg (Fla.) Times received the Pulitzer gold medal for public service. The newspaper's year-long investigation of the Florida Turnpike Authority uncovered widespread illegal acts and reckless spending of public funds. The stories resulted in a major reorganization of Florida's road construction program.

Norman C. Miller, 30, of the Wall Street Journal, won the general prize for local reporting for his thorough account of a multimillion-dollar swindle in the bankruptcy of the Allied Crude Vegetable Oil and Refining Corp. in New Jersey.

The prize for local investigative reporting was shared by a three-man team on the Philadelphia Bulletin—reporters James V. Magee, 41, Albert V. Gaudiosi, 42, and photographer Frederick A. Meyer, 42. They were cited for their expose of numbers racket operations with police collusion in South Philadelphia. It resulted in 18 dismissals and suspensions from the police department.

The international reporting prize was shared by two American correspondents who reported the war in South Viet Nam and the overthrow of the Diem regime—Malcolm W. Browne, 32, of The Associated Press, and David Halberstam, 29, of the New York Times.

The Times has won 29 prizes and The AP 19 since the awards were established by the late Joseph Pulitzer, publisher of the New York World and St. Louis Dispatch, who died in 1911.

Editorial writing, including attacks on corruption, won a prize for Hazel Brandon Smith of the weekly Lexington (Miss.) Advertiser. The award cited "steadfast adherence to her editorial duty in the face of great pressure and opposition." Merriman Smith, 51, White House correspondent for United Press International, won the prize for national reporting for his "outstanding coverage of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy."

Robert H. Jackson, 30, of the Dallas Times Herald, won the photography prize for his dramatic picture of Jack Ruby firing the fatal shot at Lee Harvey Oswald, the President's accused assassin.

The awards are made by Columbia University's board of trustees, upon the recommendations of a 14-member advisory board.

For the first time since the awards started in 1917, a special Pulitzer citation was given this year to a group of newspapers—the Gannett Newspapers, which has 15 dailies—for special coverage of success stories on "the road to integration."

The series, using reportorial, photographic and editorial resources of the Gannett papers, plus its news bureaus in Washington; Albany, N.Y., and Trenton, N.J., stressed case histories of people and communities that are solving problems of integrated housing, employment and education.

The work was acclaimed by the Pulitzer board as a "distinguished example of the use of a newspaper group's resources to complement the work of its individual newspapers."

Paul F. Conrad, 39, won the award for newspaper cartooning for his year's output with the Denver Post, without singling out an individual work. He recently moved to the Los Angeles Times.

The journalism winners received $1,000 each, except Browne and Halberstam who shared one award, and Magee, Gaudiosi and Meyer, who also shared one award.

Award winners in the field of letters, each of whom received $500, were:

HISTORY—Sumner Chilton Powell, 40, for his "Puritan Village: The Formation of a New England Town." He spent 10 years in a search of original source material in Sudbury and Marlboro, Mass., and in the English villages from which the founders of the New England towns emigrated.

BIOGRAPHY—Walter Jackson Bate, 46, for "John Keats." He is chairman of the English Department at Harvard University.

GENERAL NON-FICTION—Richard Hofstadter, 48, professor of American history of Columbia, for "Anti-Intellectualism in American Life." He won the 1956 Pulitzer Prize in history for "The Age of Reform," a study of populism and progressivism.

POETRY—Louis Simpson, 41, a native of Jamaica, for "At the End of the Open Road." He is an assistant professor of English at the University of California at Berkeley, once worked as a copyboy for the New York Herald Tribune.

1964 Pulitzer Prizes Awarded In Journalism

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1964 Pulitzer Prizes in journalism have been won for newspaper exposes of fraud and corruption, the story of success in solving racial problems, the coverage of President John F. Kennedy's assassination, and the war in South Viet Nam.

For the first time since the prizes were established in 1917, awards Monday were omitted in fiction, drama and music. No work in those three fields was deemed worthy of being honored.

The St. Petersburg (Fla.) Times received the Pulitzer gold medal for public service. The newspaper's year-long investigation of the Florida Turnpike Authority uncovered widespread illegal acts and reckless spending of public funds. The stories resulted in a major reorganization of Florida's road construction program.

Norman C. Miller, 30, of the Wall Street Journal, won the general prize for local reporting for his thorough account of a multimillion-dollar swindle in the bankruptcy of the Allied Crude Vegetable Oil and Refining Corp. in New Jersey.

The prize for local investigative reporting was shared by a three-man team on the Philadelphia Bulletin — reporters James V. Magee, 41, Albert V. Gaudiosi, 42, and photographer Frederick A. Meyer, 42. They were cited for their expose of numbers racket operations with police collusion in South Philadelphia. It resulted in 18 dismissals and suspensions from the police department.

The international reporting prize was shared by two American correspondents who reported the war in South Viet Nam and the overthrow of the Diem regime—Malcolm W. Browne, 32, of The Associated Press, and David Halberstam, 29, of the New York Times.

The Times has won 29 prizes and The AP 19 since the awards were established by the late Joseph Pulitzer, publisher of the New York World and St. Louis Dispatch, who died in 1911.

Editorial writing, including attacks on corruption, won a prize for Hazel Brandon Smith of the weekly Lexington (Miss.) Advertiser. The award cited "steadfast adherence to her editorial duty in the face of great pressure and opposition."

Merriman Smith, 51, White House correspondent for United Press International, won the prize for national reporting for his "outstanding coverage of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy."

Robert H. Jackson, 30, of the Dallas Times Herald, won the photography prize for his dramatic picture of Jack Ruby firing the fatal shot at Lee Harvey Oswald, the President's accused assassin.

The awards are made by Columbia University's board of trustees, upon the recommendations of a 14-member advisory board.

For the first time since the awards started in 1917, a special Pulitzer citation was given this year to a group of newspapers—the Gannett Newspapers, which has 15 dailies—for special coverage of success stories on "the road to integration."

The series, using reportorial,

photographic and editorial resources of the Gannett papers, plus its news bureaus in Washington; Albany, N.Y., and Trenton, N.J., stressed case histories of people and communities that are solving problems of integrated housing, employment and education.

The work was acclaimed by the Pulitzer board as a "distinguished example of the use of a newspaper group's resources to complement the work of its individual newspapers."

Paul F. Conrad, 39, won the award for newspaper cartooning for his year's output with the Denver Post, without singling out an individual work. He recently moved to the Los Angeles Times.

The journalism winners received $1,000 each, except Browne and Halberstam who shared one award, and Magee, Gaudiosi and Meyer, who also shared one award.

Award winners in the field of letters, each of whom received $500, were:

HISTORY — Sumner Chilton Powell, 40, for his "Puritan Village: The Formation of a New England Town." He spent 10 years in a search of original source material in Sudbury and Marlboro, Mass., and in the English villages from which the founders of the New England towns emigrated.

BIOGRAPHY — Walter Jackson Bate, 46, for "John Keats." He is chairman of the English Department at Harvard University.

GENERAL NON-FICTION — Richard Hofstadter, 48, professor of American history of Columbia, for "Anti-Intellectualism in American Life." He won the 1956 Pulitzer Prize in history for "The Age of Reform," a study of populism and progressivism.

POETRY — Louis Simpson, 41, a native of Jamaica, for "At the End of the Open Road." He is an assistant professor of English at the University of California at Berkeley, once worked as a copyboy for the New York Herald Tribune.

56 Attain New Honor Roll At Midland High

Fifty-six students at Midland High School are listed on the new honor roll for the fifth report period, Principal William A. Walters said today. They are:

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: What causes small holes in my linens? Some of them are less than two months old.

FLORA.

DEAR FLORA: We have taken this up with the president of the Manufacturers Laundry Association, Gunther Baumgart. He has had home economists do research on this and here is the answer so far as we know:

The first reaction is that the customer has misused bleach. If bleach has been used correctly a further explanation is difficult.

They enclosed such technical data that I will try to simplify it for you as follows:

Household bleaches used full strength for cleaning purposes can seriously weaken the fibers in a cleaning cloth or dish rag, unless the bleach is thoroughly rinsed out.

Furthermore, other fabrics that come in contact with the cleaning cloth can also be damaged.

FURTHER DAMAGE to other fabrics may result from contact with the un-rinsed cleaning cloth. For example, if you pour pure household bleach on your dishcloth for bleaching your sink, then drop it into a laundry hamper or a laundry bag, any cellulose fabric that comes in contact with this cleaning cloth will be weakened by the remaining bleach.

This cloth may stay in your laundry hamper for a few days. It's impossible to see what damage it has done to other fibers which have been in contact with the cleaning cloth until it is washed! Then, when the linen is washed the weak fibers in your sheets will crumple and float away leaving little holes and tiny tears.

Your washcloth will have more damage but this is immaterial to you as it only costs a few cents. And your sheets were quite expensive.

CHECK UP on how you use your bleach and see if you are following the directions on the bottle or box, whether it is liquid or dry bleach.

Another thing which causes holes in laundry is that you just might happen to have a rough spot in either your washing machine or the drier, which will cause snagging and damage, too. Never overload your machine.

This is valuable information we have received from the Home Laundry Manufacturers' Association and we are most grateful for it.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: "I think you've got the best column in the paper, so here's my hint for those of us gals who are single or for the more romantic wife: It's a way to eliminate the miserable odor of onions and garlic on your hands when peeling them.

Try inserting your hands in plastic bags, bind at the wrist with rubber bands, then cut those smelly things! I tried this and it works and I think I'm wonderful for thinking of it.

KAY WARE.

Honey, I think you're wonderful, too. Keep that romance in your eyes.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: For those who are interested in drying the inside of bottles, decanters, etc. I wash my bottles and then rinse them immediately with rubbing alcohol!

After sloshing the alcohol around in the bottle I pour it out and leave the top off. The alcohol evaporates and no moisture remains. My bottles and decanters are sparkling clean.

LOYCE JENKINS.

DEAR HELOISE: When opening a box of cake flour, biscuit mix, cream of wheat or any similar item which comes in a box, I IMMEDIATELY pour the contents into a plastic bag, seal it tightly, and return it to boxes which can be put on any shelf. It's a wonderful preventive measure.

MRS. HAROLD SULLIVAN.

DEAR HELOISE: I have heard so many people say that they do not have time to hang socks in pairs. If they don't they are wasting a lot more time and it is so foolish.

Nothing is easier than my way of hanging socks on a clothesline. If the next sock you pick up from your basket is not the mate, just pin up an extra clothespin and leave the "spare" until you pick up the correct mate.

MILDRED HARRIGAN.

Hancock Names 3 As Custodians At Kennedy Park

Hancock County commissioners hired three custodians for the John F. Kennedy Memorial Park on the Ohio River near Newell at a meeting Monday in the Courthouse.

Dale Smith of Newell will be night watchman, and John Ladomorsky of Weirton custodian in daylight hours, at salaries of $300 monthly each.

Donald VanDyke of Chester was hired as a part-time custodian at a salary of $125 an hour, working primarily on Saturdays and Sundays.

The park, located at abandoned Dam 8 outside Newell, opened Friday. It has been converted into a picnic area, and has facilities for launching of boats from a concrete ramp.

William C. Graham, president of County Court, said 14 boats were launched from the ramp on Sunday, and 196 cars visited the riverside park, including some from as far away as Fairmont.

Among 5 Killed At Guantanamo Victim Of Mine Field Blast Was 19 That Day

By The Associated Press

One of the five American sailors killed last Saturday in a mine field explosion on the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, was 19 years old that day.

He was Richard Garrett of Oceanside, N.Y., who enlisted in the Navy soon after he turned 17.

And Mrs. Charles C. Knight whose son, Steven, was another victim of the fatal blast, said sadly: "He was a normal boy who just liked to live."

All five seamen were on liberty from the Boxer, an amphibious assault vessel.

Steven, who would have been 20 years old in August, had been in the Navy since September last year. He was a native of Providence, R.I., but had lived with his parents, three brothers and one sister in Cranston, R.I., for 10 years.

Another victim, Arthur H. Orr, 21, is survived by his widow, Wanda, also 21, and their 2-year-old son, Reggie. Both live in Greenville, S.C. with Mrs. Orr's parents.

Orr, whose parents live in Hendersonville, N.C., would have completed his four-year enlistment in late July. He had been home on leave a week ago.

Henry J. Pazdan Jr., 19, also killed, lived in Trenton, N.J. Young Pazdan decided to join the Navy when he was not yet 18, and his parents had to consent.

Before his ship sailed for Guantanamo Bay, Henry told his parents in a telephone conversation he looked forward to being discharged early next year.

A fourth victim, David N. Pyle, 19, lived with his parents in Crofton, Ky. Forrest Pyle, 60, the youth's father who has a 117-acre tobacco farm, said: "He called us last Monday night and told us he was leaving (for Guantanamo) the next day."

"He wanted to talk to me but I was plowing and didn't get to talk to him. I told my wife when he called that I didn't feel like he would ever come back."

Pyle had been in the Navy 27 months. Mrs. Pyle said he was engaged to Linda Willis of Morehead City, N.C.

Young Pyle also leaves three sisters and a brother.

Garrett's family—his mother, stepfather and four young half-sisters—knew he was heading for Guantanamo Bay. Until they got word of his death they had not known he had arrived there.

The Navy said the sailors wandered into the mine field apparently while headed in darkness for a swim. The five shipmates "strayed into the well-marked area," the Navy said.

93 Miners Killed

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Ninety-three workers were killed in accidents in coal mines in Formosa in the first three months of this year, an official report said today.

Mother And Daughter Dinner Set At Rogers

A mother and daughter banquet will be held Thursday night at 6:30 at the Lake Mount Church of Christ of Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bott of R. D. 1 and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jenkins attended the fourth annual banquet for former employees of B. & N. Transportation Co. Saturday at Columbia with about 57 present.

Dear Heloise: What causes small holes in my linens? Some of them are less than two months old.

FLORA.

DEAR FLORA: We have taken this up with the president of the Manufacturers Laundry Association, Gunther Baumgart. He has had home economists do research on this and here is the answer so far as we know:

The first reaction is that the customer has misused bleach. If bleach has been used correctly a further explanation is difficult.

They enclosed such technical data that I will try to simplify it for you as follows:

Household bleaches used full strength for cleaning purposes can seriously weaken the fibers in a cleaning cloth or dish rag, unless the bleach is thoroughly rinsed out.

Furthermore, other fabrics that come in contact with the cleaning cloth can also be damaged.

FURTHER DAMAGE to other fabrics may result from contact with the un-rinsed cleaning cloth. For example, if you pour pure household bleach on your dishcloth for bleaching your sink, then drop it into a laundry hamper or a laundry bag, any cellulose fabric that comes in contact with this cleaning cloth will be weakened by the remaining bleach.

This cloth may stay in your laundry hamper for a few days. It's impossible to see what damage it has done to other fibers which have been in contact with the cleaning cloth until it is washed! Then, when the linen is washed the weak fibers in your sheets will crumple and float away leaving little holes and tiny tears.

Your washcloth will have more damage but this is immaterial to you as it only costs a few cents. And your sheets were quite expensive.

CHECK UP on how you use your bleach and see if you are following the directions on the bottle or box, whether it is liquid or dry bleach.

Another thing which causes holes in laundry is that you just might happen to have a rough spot in either your washing machine or the drier, which will cause snagging and damage, too. Never overload your machine.

This is valuable information we have received from the Home Laundry Manufacturers' Association and we are most grateful for it.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: "I think you've got the best column in the paper, so here's my hint for those of us gals who are single or for the more romantic wife: It's a way to eliminate the miserable odor of onions and garlic on your hands when peeling them.

Try inserting your hands in plastic bags, bind at the wrist with rubber bands, then cut those smelly things! I tried this and it works and I think I'm wonderful for thinking of it.

KAY WARE.

Honey, I think you're wonderful, too. Keep that romance in your eyes.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: For those who are interested in drying the inside of bottles, decanters, etc. I wash my bottles and then rinse them immediately with rubbing alcohol!

After sloshing the alcohol around in the bottle I pour it out and leave the top off. The alcohol evaporates and no moisture remains. My bottles and decanters are sparkling clean.

LOYCE JENKINS.

DEAR HELOISE: When opening a box of cake flour, biscuit mix, cream of wheat or any similar item which comes in a box, I IMMEDIATELY pour the contents into a plastic bag, seal it tightly, and return it to boxes which can be put on any shelf. It's a wonderful preventive measure.

MRS. HAROLD SULLIVAN.

DEAR HELOISE: I have heard so many people say that they do not have time to hang socks in pairs. If they don't they are wasting a lot more time and it is so foolish.

Nothing is easier than my way of hanging socks on a clothesline. If the next sock you pick up from your basket is not the mate, just pin up an extra clothespin and leave the "spare" until you pick up the correct mate.

Hancock Names 3 As Custodians At Kennedy Park

Hancock County commissioners hired three custodians for the John F. Kennedy Memorial Park on the Ohio River near Newell at a meeting Monday in the Courthouse.

Dale Smith of Newell will be night watchman, and John Ladamorsky of Weirton custodian in daylight hours, at salaries of $300 monthly each.

Donald VanDyke of Chester was hired as a part-time custodian at a salary of $1.25 an hour, working primarily on Saturdays and Sundays.

The park, located at abandoned Dam 8 outside Newell, opened Friday. It has been converted into a picnic area, and has facilities for launching of boats from a concrete ramp.

William C. Graham, president of County Court, said 14 boats were launched from the ramp on Sunday, and 196 cars visited the riverside park, including some from as far away as Fairmont.

Among 5 Killed At Guantanamo

Victim Of Mine Field Blast Was 19 That Day

By The Associated Press

One of the five American sailors killed last Saturday in a mine field explosion on the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, was 19 years old that day.

He was Richard Garrett of Oceanside, N.Y., who enlisted in the Navy soon after he turned 17.

And Mrs. Charles C. Knight whose son, Steven, was another victim of the fatal blast, said sadly: "He was a normal boy who just liked to live."

All five seamen were on liberty from the Boxer, an amphibious assault vessel.

Steven, who would have been 20 years old in August, had been in the Navy since September last year. He was a native of Providence, R.I., but had lived with his parents, three brothers and one sister in Cranston, R.I., for 10 years.

Another victim, Arthur H. Orr, 21, is survived by his widow, Wanda, also 21, and their 2-year-old son, Reggie. Both live in Greenville, S.C. with Mrs. Orr's parents.

Orr, whose parents live in Hendersonville, N.C., would have completed his four-year enlistment in late July. He had been home on leave a week ago.

Henry J. Pazdan Jr., 19, also killed, lived in Trenton, N.J.

Young Pazdan decided to join the Navy when he was not yet 18, and his parents had to consent.

Before his ship sailed for Guantanamo Bay, Henry told his parents in a telephone conversation he looked forward to being discharged early next year.

A fourth victim, David N. Pyle, 19, lived with his parents in Crofton, Ky.

Forrest Pyle, 60, the youth's father who has a 117-acre tobacco farm, said: "He called us last Monday night and told us he was leaving (for Guantanamo) the next day."

"He wanted to talk to me but I was plowing and didn't get to talk to him. I told my wife when he called that I didn't feel like he would ever come back."

Pyle had been in the Navy 27 months. Mrs. Pyle said he was engaged to Linda Willis of Morehead City, N.C.

Young Pyle also leaves three sisters and a brother.

Garrett's family—his mother, stepfather and four young half-sisters—knew he was heading for Guantanamo Bay. Until they got word of his death they had not known he had arrived there.

The Navy said the sailors wandered into the mine field apparently while headed in darkness for a swim. The five shipmates "strayed into the well-marked area," the Navy said.

93 Miners Killed

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—

Ninety-three workers were killed in accidents in coal mines in Formosa in the first three months of this year, an official report said today.

Ohio Slayer Granted Stay Of Execution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court has granted an indefinite stay of execution to Richard Stewart, who was scheduled to die May 29 for the slaying of a Kent State University coed.

The Ohio court granted the stay Monday because Stewart is appealing his first-degree murder conviction to the U.S. Supreme Court. Stewart was 17 at the time of the slaying. He was convicted of strangling Judy Sooy in the basement of his parents' home in Cuyahoga Falls.
